EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1901.

TWO CENTS

COLDEST NIGHT OF THE SEASON

Sudden Arrival of Zero Temperature Caught People Unprepared.

FROZEN HYDRANTS PLENTY

Burst Water Pipes Also Reported. Mayor Davidson Had His Troubles. Zero And Below at Several Points in the City And Vicinity.

Last night was the coldest of the season. Many bursted water pipes and frozen hydrants in the city this morning furnished all the evidence of this fact that was necessary.

The residents of all sections of the city were inconvenienced by the sudden cold snap. It was a common sight at an early hour to see men armed with an empty water bucket in search of a hydrant that was not frozen.

Mayor Davidson was very careful in arranging matters at his home on Fifth street last evening, and took the precaution to shut off the water in such a manner that none remained in the escape pipe. When he arose this morning the pipe was frozen so tight that it was impossible to get a drop of water through it. It was a mystery where the frost lay, as his honor could hullo through the thing and even run a stick the full length, but no water would pass. The mayor spent several hours in an attempt to figure out the problem, and finally gave it up.

There is some dispute as to just how cold it was at 7 o'clock this morning, and it would be difficult to give the exact figures. However, the people who gave the following, without a single exception, insist they are precisely correct:

Second and Union.....	3 below
Sixth and Diamond.....	zero
First National bank.....	2 below
Fire station	2 below
Simm's hill	3 below
Fifth and Jefferson	3 below
Jethro	zero
East End	3 below

Reports from Salem and Lisbon are to the effect that the thermometer registered about four degrees below at those points. One source of gratification was that the gas supply did not give out. Had the Ohio Valley company failed to make the repairs to their line the suffering in this community would have been intense.

OFF THE TRACK TWICE.

One Street Car From Wellsville Had a Tough Experience.

A resident of this city was in Wellsville last evening and boarded a street car for East Liverpool at 9:30. He reached the Diamond at exactly 11 o'clock, having spent just one hour and a half on the road.

The car was off the track three times during the trip.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS.

W. F. Crossley Now in Charge of Columbiana Telephones.

S. C. Thayer, president and general manager of the Columbiana Telephone company, has resigned his position, and will take a responsible berth with the Century Telephone company, of Cleveland.

W. F. Crossley, who has been with the company for some time, will look after the duties of the office for the present. The headquarters of the company will be maintained at Salem.

BOUGHTON FINED $200.

East Liverpool Youth Gets a Salty Dose of Wheeling Justice.

A Year in Jail.

Wheeling, March 6.—J. W. Boughton, who was arrested Monday evening by the police, was arraigned yesterday before Squire M. J. Fitzpatrick on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was fined $200 and costs and in default of payment was given one year in jail.

Boughton is wanted by the East Liverpool authorities for stealing a watch and gold filled case valued at $25 and an overcoat valued at $10 from F. M. Marsh, of that city. When arrested he had the coat on and the watch was found in a pawnshop.

Boughton had enlisted in the army for Philippine service, but had not been sworn in. When an attempt was made to arrest him he showed fight and threatened to shoot the officer and made good his escape. He was later arrested. It is said he will only be held on the charge of carrying concealed weapons until requisition papers can be secured to take him to Ohio.

BOND ACCEPTED.

C. A. Smith Wins One Round in the Appeal of the Case Against Mason.

Information from Beaver this morning says that the prothonotary of Beaver county has accepted the bond of C. A. Smith in his appeal of the suit brought against him by A. G. Mason.

This means that the case will get a second hearing. The bond is for $250,000, and is signed by C. A. Smith and William Banfield. The action was taken after a second hearing, and the result is regarded as a victory for Mr. Smith.

GRANTED A DIVORCE.

Mrs. Ophelia Blue, of This City, Legally Separated From Her Husband.

Lisbon, March 6.—(Special.)—Mrs. Ophelia Blue, of East Liverpool, was granted a divorce today from William Blue, on statutory grounds. It was claimed he broke his marriage vows in Wellsville and Blanche Jenkins was named as corespondent. They were married in New Cumberland, W. Va. in 1894. The plaintiff resides in East Liverpool, where she is quite well known.

McBride is Commissioner.

Bridgeport, O., March 6.—Patrick McBride, for many years national secretary of the United Mine Workers of America, has been appointed commissioner for the mine operators in the No. 8 seam in Jefferson, Harrison, Carroll, Guernsey and Belmont counties. He is virtually an arbitrator who can be called into any dispute by either miner or operator, and his decision is final as far as mine officials are concerned.

$73,579 58 on Hand.

Lisbon, March 6.—(Special.)—Dr. T. B. Marquis, of Lisbon, and Attorney Charles Boyd, of Wellsville, examined the condition of the county treasury this morning and report a total of $73,579 58. The claims of John R. Martin in dispute are reported to be $2,114 40.

IMPORTANT SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Supplee Land Company Formed and an East End Tract Purchased.

FINE MANUFACTURING SITE

A Large Plant, Probably a Pottery, Will Be Located There—Twenty Acres in the Tract, Which Borders Upon the Ohio River.

The most important real estate deal in the East End for more than a year has just been closed. A corporation to be known as the Supplee Land company has been formed and has purchased the 20-acre plat of land formerly belonging to Charles N. Thompson. This is situated just above the Abner Martin property, lying between the railroad and the river.

Walter C. Supplee was the promoter of the project and the company was organized for the purpose of "buying and selling and dealing in real estate and all things incident thereto, subject to the provisions of section 3235, revised statutes of Ohio, and to exist for the term of 25 years."

The company will be incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000, and the articles of incorporation are signed by the following persons: William C. Thompson, Charles N. Thompson, Frank Allibaugh, R. J. Marshall and W. C. Supplee.

By reason of its location this property is a most valuable manufacturing site. One of the foremost objects of the corporation is to secure the location of a large plant here at an early date. It is not yet definitely known what kind of a plant will be built, but it will probably be a pottery, and while the plans are as yet too immature to warrant a statement as to its probable size. A number of local capitalists are interested, and it is known that it will not be a small one.

A part of the land will be held for speculative purposes, and the investment promises to be very successful from a financial standpoint.

CAN'T FIND HIS WATCH.

William Brooks Invokes the Law's Aid to Get Back a Pawned Timepiece.

William Brooks, a porter at the National house, pawned his watch some time ago to Philip Dufford and Dufford afterward sold it to Charles Brown, another colored man.

When Brooks was ready to redeem the timepiece he discovered the state of affairs, and at once caused a writ of replevin to be issued in the court of Justice McLane. The writ was executed, but Brown had sold the watch and knew nothing of its whereabouts. This he made clear in the 'squire's court today, and it is now up to Brooks to have another affidavit issued. It may be that he will proceed against Dufford for doing a pawn brokerage business without a license.

DIRE THREAT MADE.

Letter Writer Wants $500 or Else He Will Burn the Senator's Eyes Out.

Upper Sandusky, O., Mar. 6.—Senator Gear received another letter from the same party who threatened to burn his home, waylay his daughter Florence and burn out his eyes with a red-hot poker, unless given $500. The second letter scores the senator unmercifully for having the first letter published, and threatens dire injury to his entire family, but the language is too vile for publication.

The writing is in the same hand as the previous letter, and a clue was afforded in the characteristic of a certain word. Federal authorities are now at work on the case.

A SUIT FOR COSTS

ENTERED BY JUDGE BOONE AND EX-SHERIFF GILL.

Lisbon, March 6.—(Special.)—Ex-Sheriff Charles Gill and Probate Judge Boone filed suit in court this morning against A. L. Elton, Owen Stackhouse and David Kidler, trustees of West township. Three years ago a ditch case was tried in probate court and when settled judgment for a part of the costs, amounting to $267, was assessed against the trustees of West township. Sheriff Gill had $84 30 costs and Judge Boone $45 90, and the trustees refuse to pay. The court is asked to issue a writ of mandamus to compel the trustees to levy a tax to pay these costs.

B. M. Oliver and C. L. Welday, of Steubenville, state in a petition filed this morning that last December they purchased a registered horse called "Don," from T. P. Brown, of Salem, for $300. They claim that Brown falsely represented the horse to be sound in every particular, while as a fact the animal is rheumatic, has stiff joints and is no good. They say they gave a note for the amount and Brown is insolvent and about to transfer the note to others, which will cause them trouble. They want him restrained from doing so. The court is asked to give plaintiff judgment for the amount.

A motion for a new trial in the case of James Nelson against the city of East Liverpool was argued and overruled. The case was tried during the September term of court, when the jury found in favor of the city.

TURNERS PROSPEROUS.

Organization Growing And Members Working Hard in the Hope of Future Honors.

Interest has been revived recently in the class at Turner hall. The society engaged a new physical director a few weeks ago, and since that time the membership has been steadily increasing.

At the meeting tomorrow night about 20 new members will be added, and it is likely the class will increase at every meeting. It has been decided to hold two meetings each week after tomorrow, on Tuesday and Friday evenings.

It is the intention to work hard during the coming year in order that the class may be able to capture at least a portion of the events at the coming turnfest. There is no reason why this cannot be accomplished, as there was a time when the local class was second to none in the district, and it is reasonable to suppose that just as good material still exists in the city as ever.

Goes West for Treatment.

Mrs. C. H. Morris left last evening for St. Louis for the purpose of placing her little son, Charles H. Morris, in a medical institute to take treatment for spinal trouble. They were accompanied as far as Steubenville by Mr. Morris.

A BIG PRODUCER IS LOOKED FOR

Oil Well East of Chester Starts Off at the Rate of Ten Barrels a Day.

EXPECTS TO BE GOOD FOR 50

Oil Men Say the Territory Gives Promise of Being More Productive Than Turkeyfoot—Many More Wells Will Be Drilled.

The oil well on the Williams farm, located two miles east of Chester, was drilled in yesterday. The well started to flow at the rate of 10 barrels a day as soon as the sand was reached. When shot it is expected to be, at least, a 50-barrel producer. This is one of the several test wells which are being drilled in this section, and it is thought that the location of the pool is shown by this well.

The sand here is 28 feet thick, and according to the opinion of oil men, gives promise of a more productive field than the Turkeyfoot territory at the lower end of the county when first opened.

Another boiler was expected to arrive at Chester today, and arrangements are being made to bore in more holes near this one as soon as possible.

It was learned today that several local capitalists are forming a company and will try to secure control of the land in this end of the county not already leased.

Pittsburg and Wheeling capitalists have leases of all the land in the vicinity of the well. If future developments meet present expectations the Southside will experience a considerable boom as a result of the opening of this field.

SMOKER AND SOCIAL.

The Most Successful Meeting Ever Held by the Clerks' Union.

The grocery and butcher clerks' union held a very important meeting last evening. Twelve new members were initiated and 15 applications were received, upon which action will be taken at the next meeting.

After the business meeting a social and smoker were held. The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and after addresses by President Woods and others, the members partook of an elegant lunch. The meeting is reported to have been the most successful ever held by the organization.

The Jail Tenants.

For the first time in more than three weeks the pail has not a single occupant. The four colored individuals, Jessie Alexander, George Southall, David Brown and Paul Lacey, paid their fines yesterday and were released. "Nattie" Marland and George Stewart were let out Monday and James Bentley's time expired yesterday.

Survey Completed.

Steubenville, March 6.—Chief Assistant Civil Engineer Silas W. McConnell, of the Panhandle railroad has completed the survey of the proposed extension of the New Cumberland branch from Chester as far as Georgetown, and with the crew that assisted him in this work, has returned to Steubenville.

This is situated just above the Abner Martin property, lying between the railroad and the river.

Walter C. Supplee was the promoter of the project and the company was organized for the purpose of "buying and selling and dealing in real estate and all things incident thereto, subject to the provisions of section 3235, revised statutes of Ohio, and to exist for the term of 25 years."

The company will be incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000, and the articles of incorporation are signed by the following persons: William C. Thompson, Charles N. Thompson, Frank Allbaugh, R. J. Marshall and W. C. Supplee.

By reason of its location this property is a most valuable manufacturing site. One of the foremost objects of the corporation is to secure the location of a large plant here at an early date. It is not yet definitely known what kind of a plant will be built, but it will probably be a pottery, and while the plans are as yet too immature to warrant a statement as to its probable size. A number of local capitalists are interested, and it is known that it will not be a small one.

A part of the land will be held for speculative purposes, and the investment promises to be very successful from a financial standpoint.

CAN'T FIND HIS WATCH.

William Brooks Invokes the Law's Aid to Get Back a Pawned Timepiece.

William Brooks, a porter at the National house, pawned his watch some time ago to Philip Dufford and Dufford afterward sold it to Charles Brown, another colored man.

When Brooks was ready to redeem the timepiece he discovered the state of affairs, and at once caused a writ of replevin to be issued in the court of Justice McLane. The writ was executed, but Brown had sold the watch and knew nothing of its whereabouts. This he made clear in the 'squire's court today, and it is now up to Brooks to have another affidavit issued. It may be that he will proceed against Dufford for doing a pawn brokerage business without a license.

DIRE THREAT MADE.

Letter Writer Wants $500 or Else He Will Burn the Senator's Eyes Out.

Upper Sandusky, O., Mar. 6.—Senator Gear received another letter from the same party who threatened to burn his home, waylay his daughter Florence and burn out his eyes with a red-hot poker, unless given $500. The second letter scores the senator unmercifully for having the first letter published, and threatens dire injury to his entire family, but the language is too vile for publication.

The writing is in the same hand as the previous letter, and a clue was afforded in the characteristic of a certain word. Federal authorities are now at work on the case.

A SUIT FOR COSTS

Lisbon, March 6.—(Special.)—Ex-Sheriff Charles Gill and Probate Judge Boone filed suit in court this morning against A. L. Elton, Owen Stackhouse and David Kidler, trustees of West township. Three years ago a ditch case was tried in probate court and when settled judgment for a part of the costs, amounting to $267, was assessed against the trustees of West township. Sheriff Gill had $84 30 costs and Judge Boone $45 90, and the trustees refuse to pay. The court is asked to issue a writ of mandamus to compel the trustees to levy a tax to pay these costs.

B. M. Oliver and C. L. Welday, of Steubenville, state in a petition filed this morning that last December they purchased a registered horse called "Don," from T. P. Brown, of Salem, for $300. They claim that Brown falsely represented the horse to be sound in every particular, while as a fact the animal is rheumatic, has stiff joints, and is no good. They say they gave a note for the amount and Brown is insolvent and about to transfer the note to others, which will cause them trouble. They want him restrained from doing so. The court is asked to give plaintiff judgment for the amount.

A motion for a new trial in the case of James Nelson against the city of East Liverpool was argued and overruled. The case was tried during the September term of court, when the jury found in favor of the city.

TURNERS PROSPEROUS.

Organization Growing And Members Working Hard in the Hope of Future Honors.

Interest has been revived recently in the class at Turner hall. The society engaged a new physical director a few weeks ago, and since that time the membership has been steadily increasing.

At the meeting tomorrow night about 20 new members will be added, and it is likely the class will increase at every meeting. It has been decided to hold two meetings each week after tomorrow, on Tuesday and Friday evenings.

It is the intention to work hard during the coming year in order that the class may be able to capture at least a portion of the events at the coming turnfest. There is no reason why this cannot be accomplished, as there was a time when the local class was second to none in the district, and it is reasonable to suppose that just as good material still exists in the city as ever.

Goes West for Treatment.

Mrs. C. H. Morris left last evening for St. Louis for the purpose of placing her little son, Charles H. Morris, in a medical institute to take treatment for spinal trouble. They were accompanied as far as Steubenville by Mr. Morris.

A BIG PRODUCER IS LOOKED FOR

Oil Well East of Chester Starts Off at the Rate of Ten Barrels a Day.

Oil Men Say the Territory Gives Promise of Being More Productive Than Turkeyfoot—Many More Wells Will Be Drilled.

The oil well on the Williams farm, located two miles east of Chester, was drilled in yesterday. The well started to flow at the rate of 10 barrels a day as soon as the sand was reached. When shot it is expected to be, at least, a 50-barrel producer. This is one of the several test wells which are being drilled in this section, and it is thought that the location of the pool is shown by this well.

The sand here is 28 feet thick, and according to the opinion of oil men, gives promise of a more productive field than the Turkeyfoot territory at the lower end of the county when first opened.

Another boiler was expected to arrive at Chester today, and arrangements are being made to bore in more holes near this one as soon as possible.

Pittsburg and Wheeling capitalists have leases of all the land in the vicinity of the well. If future developments meet present expectations the Southside will experience a considerable boom as a result of the opening of this field.

SMOKER AND SOCIAL.

The Most Successful Meeting Ever Held by the Clerks' Union.

The grocery and butcher clerks' union held a very important meeting last evening. Twelve new members were initiated and 15 applications were received, upon which action will be taken at the next meeting.

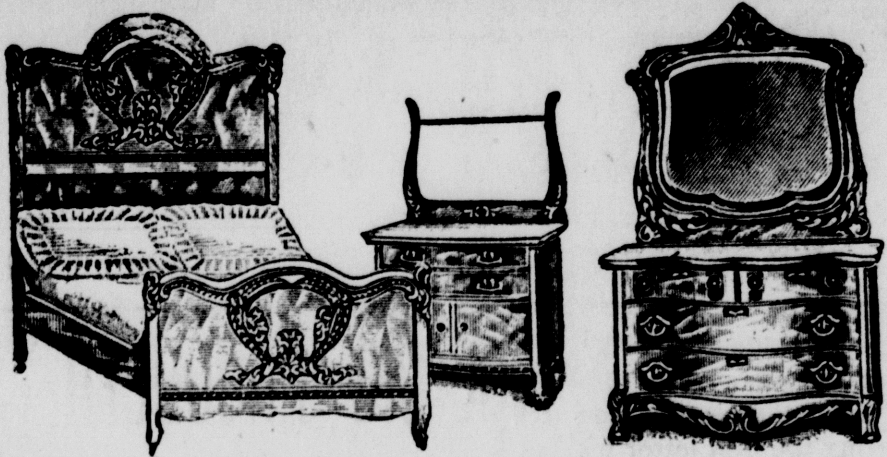

After the business meeting a social and smoker were held. The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and after addresses by President Woods and others, the members partook of an elegant lunch. The meeting is reported to have been the most successful ever held by the organization.

The Jail Tenantless.

For the first time in more than three weeks the pail has not a single occupant. The four colored individuals, Jessie Alexander, George Southall, David Brown and Paul Lacey, paid their fines yesterday and were released. "Nattie" Marland and George Stewart were let out Monday and James Bentley's time expired yesterday.

Survey Completed.

Steubenville, March 6.—Chief Assistant Civil Engineer Silas W. McConnell, of the Panhandle railroad has completed the survey of the proposed extension of the New Cumberland branch from Chester as far as Georgetown, and with the crew that assisted him in this work, has returned to Steubenville.

Alex Chaffin Trying Hard to Get On the Councilmanic Ticket.

Alex Chaffin is canvassing the other candidates for permission to have his name printed on the regular ticket, in accordance with an agreement with the Republican central committee. All but one have given their consent.

J. J. Weisend says that Alex had just decided to come out on the Democratic ticket, which he formerly voted, and that the Republican central committee became alarmed and offered him an opportunity to come back into the fold.

Now that Alex is again on the roll, a number of young men have decided to visit him and pledge their support, provided that he will agree to have a club house built in the East End. There is now no loafing place whatever for the boys, and they are obliged to change places as often as the proprietor gets mad. It is thought that if the "Baron de Chaffinville" will agree to this plan that his election is assured.

The membership of this circle is now over 200, making it one of the largest in the state.

Herman Supplee is ill with the measles.

Charles Gallagher has just received several game chickens and is thinking of going into this kind of poultry business exclusively.

Mrs. John Downard, who has been suffering with a complication of diseases for some time, is somewhat improved, but is still very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hoskins, of Martin's Ferry, are visiting Mr. Hoskins' mother, who has been very ill for some time. She is now in a critical condition.

One of the new cars was very cold yesterday evening. It is thought that it came in contact with one of the old cars in the barn and the disease was contagious.

VOTING PLACES LOCATED.

Those in Two Precincts of the First Ward Finally Selected.

The precinct committeemen in the First ward have at last succeeded in securing places for holding the city Republican primary. The first precinct has been located at Robert Hall's office, Broadway, and the second at the residence of Julius Stern, corner of Minerva and Avondale streets. This completes the list of nine precincts in the various wards, and they are the same as those used at the regular election.

COL. GUFFEY'S LUCK.

It Was Not Always Good, But He Kept On Till Fortune Smiled.

James M. Guffey, principal owner of the great Lucas oil well in Texas, is the hero of an uncommon career, which is set forth in detail in the March number of the World's Work.

He was a school boy just out of his teens when he made his first venture at Pithole, a city which once had a population of 30,000, but whose former site is now a cow pasture. He lost the money he had taken with him to Pithole, nor did a larger measure of success attend his operations during the next few years; but after each failure he took fresh courage and for a decade or more roamed the hills and valleys of western Pennsylvania, pushing the drill in out-of-the-way places with an energy that seemed a great deal like lunacy to less persistent men.

Guffey's opportunity came with the discovery of the Cherry Grove district. He was one of the first in that field, and secured leases which yielded him a comfortable fortune. He now owns oil and gas wells in half a dozen states, and for several years past has been the largest individual oil producer in the world. One day last summer there was a letter in his mail from a man in Texas, in which the writer stated that he had 15,000 acres of land in Jefferson county, that state, under oil leases. He would like Guffey to join him in drilling a test well. Guffey wrote the Texan to get leases on 30,000 acres, when he would help him. The bargain was made, and its first fruit was the Lucas well, which has already produced oil worth $400,000.

Over-loaded Trains Kept One Man From Going to Washington.

He arrived there in time to see one of the regular trains, usually composed of three sections, come in with 14 sections. All the passengers aboard the 14 trains were piled in nine.

There was not an available inch of space left. The people were sitting on the top of cars and hanging onto the guard rails. Mr. Harris changed his mind and came to this city instead of going to Washington.

DISFRANCHISES MANY.

A Bill Before the Maryland Legislature Prevents Illiterates From Voting.

Annapolis, Md., March 6.—Prominent political leaders are here from different sections of Maryland. Chief among them is former United States Senator Arthur Pue Gorman, who arrived and took up quarters in a furnished room house opposite the state house. With him are half a dozen of his most trusted lieutenants, who, together with Mr. Gorman, will remain during the special session of the legislature and direct the fight which is generally believed will result either in Mr. Gorman's ultimate return to the United States senate or probably his final retirement from state and national politics. The Republicans are prepared for a bitter contest under the leadership of United States Senator McComas, assisted by Phillips Lee Goldsborough, chairman of the Republican state central committee and a strong candidate for Senator Wellington's seat in the event that the next assembly is Republican. The bill to amend the elections laws so as to prevent illiterates from casting their ballots is, of course, the principal object for which the special session was called.

The effect of the measure said to have been prepared, if passed, will be to practically disfranchise about 90 per cent of the 52,000 colored voters of the state and make a Democratic legislature next year almost a certainty. The Democrats, however, have but a bare constitutional majority in the senate, and are visibly uneasy lest their plans go wrong and the bill fail of passage.

Happy old age

Many women who have enjoyed good health all their life begin to fade when they reach the age of forty-four. They grow nervous and irritable and suffer with sick-headaches. Their livers are torpid, their digestion is impaired and their bowels are irregular. They are experiencing the "change of life." And it is not strange that the cessation of the menstrual habit after thirty years operation should disturb the system and tax the strongest constitution. This trying period has no terror for a woman who uses Wine of Cardui. It builds up her strength and prepares her for the ordeal. When the change of life is not safely passed, a woman quickly becomes an invalid. Slumbering disease germs are given increased activity and they appear in aggravated form. If you take Wine of Cardui regularly when approaching the change of life you will be assured better health than you have ever enjoyed before. A happy old age and restful calm will be your reward. Mrs. Campbell was cured after suffering three years with "change of life." Theford's Black-Draught, the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui, assimilates with it perfectly, curing digestive liver and kidney affections, and throwing impurities and disease germs out of the system. Both working together make a well and happy woman.

What Forty Poles Make.

A good story is told about a certain professor whose business it was to lecture to a number of students on surveying. During one of the lectures, the professor said that in his opinion the pole was of little or no value. To the astonishment of those present a Polish gentleman arose and, after accusing the professor of insulting his countrymen, demanded an apology.

The professor thereupon explained that the pole to which he referred was merely a term of measurement. The Polish gentleman, seeing his mistake, asked the professor to forgive his apparent rudeness. To this the professor smartly replied:

"You could not be rude, sir, even if you tried, for it takes 40 poles to make one rood!"

Conference of Hocking Valley Coal Operators on the Wage Scale

Important Decision on Government Power to Levy Taxes—Sale of the Baltimore & Ohio to the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling.

Columbus, O., March 6.—The operators of the Hocking Valley and officials of the Ohio miners' organization were in session, discussing the wage scale and the 15 rules which govern the working of the "diggers." On two there has been a disagreement. The first is in regard to the docking system of amounts of coal deducted from the miners when dirt is found in the coal cars. The operators are apparently inclined to blame the miners for this complaint. The other disagreement is in regard to the amount of coal to be loaded on a car. The operators, it is said, want to receive all coal loaded on a car above the limit provided. Vice President Thomas Lewis, of the national organization, may be in at today's session.

DECISION ON LEVYING TAXES.

Government Has No Power to Tax So as to Interfere With Officials.

Cincinnati, March 6.—The United States circuit court of appeals rendered an opinion declaring that the United States has no power to tax state officials, so as to interfere with the functions of office. The case arose out of a suit by W. W. Warwick, a notary public of this city, to recover from Internal Revenue Collector Bettman 50 cents paid to him under the provision of the war revenue bill as tax on his bond as a notary. Judge Thompson, of the district court, ruled in favor of Warwick and the case was appealed. The court of appeals said that if such a tax could be exacted from notaries it might be exacted from other state officials, and the amount might be increased until the office would be destroyed and officers of the state prevented from performing their duties. The authority of Chief Justice Marshall in McCullagh vs Maryland was cited in support of the finding of the court.

Animals That Bloom.

Anemones, sponges, the sea cucumbers and certain other growths which bloom and apparently behave in all respects like plants are really animals.

The petals of the anemone, resembling those of a chrysanthemum, are really tentacles to catch food and put it into the hollow tube which forms the stomach, where it is digested. The sea cucumber has a flattened body. It occasionally moves at a snail's pace over the mud or sand, digging its petals, or arms, into the sludge for food, to obtain which it swallows a fair proportion of mud. It has power to sting and so keeps away its enemies.

The sea lily so exactly resembles the common lily that it is difficult to realize that it is an animal and belongs to the starfish family. It has a stalk two feet long, with a disk for a body. The tentacles close round the disk, which has a mouth, and completes the deceptive likeness. They are the oldest form of animal life on earth, and their fossils are called "stone lilies."

These creatures were believed to be plants and many people still refuse to believe otherwise.

Milk.

An English physician, commenting on the tendency of London bred persons to die young, says that they drink too little milk. Even in the country "milk is not such a common article of diet as it was in past years, and children are not nourished according to hygienic laws."

A new virtue is ascribed to milk by The Practical Druggist, which says it is the best general preventive of the absorption of poison by the human system.

An Epitaph.

In the churchyard of Leigh, near Bolton, will be found a tombstone bearing the following amazing sentence: "A virtuous woman is 5s. to her husband." The explanation seems to be that space prevented "a crown" being cut in full, and the stonemason argued that a crown equals 5s.—Notes and Queries.

HEARING AS TO OLEO.

President Shaffer Argued For It, at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, March 6.—The senate committee on public health and sanitation and the house committee on agriculture held a joint meeting last night for the purpose of hearing arguments for and against the Snyder bill, which regulates the sale of oleomargarine. Senator Quail, of Schuylkill, acted as chairman of the joint meeting. One hour and a half was allowed each side.

The first speaker heard was President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of America. He said the enactment of the pending bill would work incalculable hardship on the thousands of rolling mill men who have families. Oleomargarine and butterine, he said, are a godsend to the poor man, because of its low price. The workmen of the state, he added, were almost unanimous that there be no change in the present law.

Editor Trougher, of The New Era, a labor journal, and L. R. Groucher, a Philadelphia labor representative, also argued along the same lines as Mr. Shaffer.

The Coughing Bean.

To the ordinary housemaid the falling of a house plant into a violent paroxysm of coughing is naturally disconcerting. Yet there are plants which will do this when the broom or the duster begins to make dust fly. This singular plant is the "coughing bean," known to the botanist as the Eutada tussiens. It is a native of warm and moist tropical countries and cannot and will not stand dust. When dust settles upon the breathing pores in the leaves of this plant and chokes them, a gas accumulates inside the leaves, and when it gains sufficient strength forcibly "blows off," clearing the pores of dust and making a sound exactly like coughing. At the same time the leaves tremble and the plant actually "gets red in the face," through the sinking of the green chlorophyll grains and the appearance of red particles on the leaves. This plant is sometimes used as a house plant, and sweeping the room sets it coughing, to the intense astonishment of persons not familiar with its peculiarities.

Missed His Guess.

An American who was sojourning in Spain at the time says that on the day when Dewey was destroying the Spanish squadron at Manila a representative audience, including some of Spain's bravest and best, were attending a patriotic bullfight in Madrid, applauding these words of the famous matadore: "With the ease with which I have killed this noble animal, the bull, will the glorious Spanish nation uphold the traditions of the past and keep green the laurels of their illustrious fathers by triumphing over the Yankee pig."

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1901.

JUSTICE TO CUBA.

Some of our Democratic contemporaries are greatly exercised because the administration shows a disposition to look after the interests of Cuba a little longer. In this they profess to see a purpose to absorb the island bodily, without its knowledge or consent, into the body of this great Republic.

The Democratic professions of alarm are absolutely nonsensical, as every man of good sense in that party must know. The pledge given to Cuba that the people of that island are to have absolute independence as soon as they have established a stable government is one that will be kept. By the votes of both Republicans and Democrats in congress, the whole nation gave its promise to Cuba, and there is no intention or desire to violate the obligation. No one will maintain that a stable government now exists in Cuba, although the island is steadily advancing in that direction. It would be anything but kindness or justice to abandon to their own devices the people we have befriended and for whom we have fought, just at this critical juncture.

Cuba will have complete independence, and we hope it will soon be here, but the United States must not withdraw its helping hand from the islanders for a little while. As soon as Cuba has a government that that can govern, it is the duty of the United States to withdraw, and it will do so with satisfaction and not with reluctance. It would not be surprising if Cuba, after a brief trial of self-government, should come clamoring at our doors for admission, but that is a question that need not be discussed until it arises. Meantime the Cuban question that now exists is being settled with as much rapidity as the demands of wisdom and justice permit. It will soon cease to worry those vigilant Democrats who seem to live in constant terror lest the nation to which they belong shall do something dishonorable and who magnify every act of a Republican administration, however just or proper it may be, into a wrong, if they see an opportunity of arousing political prejudice by so doing.

UNREASONABLE CRITICS.

Democratic critics have had a good deal to say concerning the elaborate preparations that were made for the inauguration at Washington, but we do not imagine, had they been so fortunate as to have had a Democratic president to inaugurate, there would have been any marked Jeffersonian simplicity about the ceremonies. This is no longer a nation of primitive backwoodsmen, as it was in the days when, tradition avers, Jefferson rode to the capital in a suit of homespun, tied his horse to a tree and modestly walked to the spot where he was to take the oath of office as president. No farmer would now visit the capital in homespun or on horseback.

Times have changed and we have changed with them. As Thomas B. Reed remarked, we have become a billion dollar country, and we do many things on a scale that would have opened the eyes of our forefathers. We have a national dignity to maintain, and it is fitting that an important national event, especially a joyous one like the second inauguration of a great president, should be celebrated with becoming ceremony. The expenses of the inauguration festivities are not paid out of the public purse, but mainly by private subscriptions. No Democrat is compelled to pay for them or even witness them. As for the crowds that flock into Washington, as long as the railroads run excursion trains, they will continue to go there on such occasions and to be guided by their own inclinations as to whether they shall spend much or little money.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Mansfield News, hits the nail squarely on the head when it says: "It seems rather impudent for those to criticize who favored candidates and policies that a few years ago made everybody so deucedly poor that they couldn't afford to spend anything on presidential inaugurations." But the Democrat who is not "fornest" anything and everything said or done by Republicans is a rare bird.

CHEERFUL SCHOOL ROOMS.

An item from the county seat says: "About 50 pictures have been placed in the Lisbon schools, which add not a little to the attractiveness of the rooms." Time was, and not so very long ago either, when a school room with walls ornamented otherwise than by blackboards, charts and maps, would have been a decided novelty. Most of us who have reached mature years can remember when school-houses were built with a view solely to utility. In the country they were hideous wooden boxes, usually posted in the bleakest and least attractive spot in the neighborhood. In towns they were unpretentious, ill-ventilated structures, of no architectural beauty whatever, and often with surroundings the dingiest and most unpleasant.

Educators have been educated since our grandfathers' days. They are learning even now. Teachers and school officers have learned that good surroundings help to make good scholars. The eye should be educated as well as the mind. Pretty playgrounds, flowers and pictures in the school rooms all have a healthy, civilizing influence. In most communities the school buildings themselves are usually the best in the neighborhoods where they are located, and efforts towards advancing and giving them a cheerful appearance both inside and out are constantly being put forth. It is a tendency that should be encouraged.

All the Ohioans who went to Washington have not returned. From the stories told of high rates charged by the hotels in the crowded capital it is barely possible some have been compelled to start back on foot.

The spring poet and the man with a spring suit are both in a fix.

Make English Crockery Cheaper Than Ours Away Out West.

"English crockery is sold more cheaply in the state of Washington than American crockery, although the price at the pottery is about the same," said H. A. Rhodes, of Tacoma, Wash., last night at the Victoria. Mr. Rhodes is a dealer in porcelain, glassware, pottery, china, etc., with a large department store at Tacoma.

"The reason for this anomaly," he says, "is entirely a matter of freight. The English goods are brought all the way to Puget sound by ship around Cape Horn, while it is customary to ship the American product by rail the long journey across the continent. Another peculiar fact about the state of Washington is that it has overcome one of the oldest customs of that old inhabitant, the Chinese of China. By sheer force of enterprise it has converted the natives of a large part of China from a rice-eating to a wheat-eating people, and now there are annually tens of thousands of bushels of wheat grown in Washington and shipped to China to supply this Chinese demand.—Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

RIVER MEN PLEASED

Boats Moving and Business Brisk
on the Ohio Once
More.

NOT ENOUGH ICE TO PREVENT

Disappointment General Over the Failure of the River And Harbor Bill. Much Work Will Remain at a Standstill.

Business on the river this morning was very brisk. All rivermen were wearing smiles and although there is considerable ice floating in the stream, there is a good boating stage, which the coal companies of Pittsburg will use to good advantage.

A number of coal boats were sent out from Pittsburg yesterday, and among those which passed this city today were the Dick Fulton, Alice Brown, B. D. Wood, Jim Wood, Dave Wood, Josh Cook and Charles Brown, having large tows. It is thought that the present rise will enable the coal companies to send out 10,000,000 bushels by tomorrow.

But one accident has been reported. One of the barges hitched to the Pacific got jammed in the heavy ice at Pittsburg. Before it could be hauled clear the frame work was crushed like an egg shell and the contents of the piece, about 25,000 bushels of coal, went to the bottom of the Ohio river. The wreck is lying in about 14 feet of water, but no danger is looked for, as the pilots have all been notified to look out for the wreckage. Efforts will be made to scoop it up today.

The marks at Davis island dam, in the Ohio, last night, showed the stream to be 10.3, but an additional rise was looked for this morning, as reports from the headwaters of the Allegheny were to the effect that the stream was rising at all points, and much water is behind the ice, which is still thick in the river at some places.

The marks at the East Liverpool wharf this morning registered 10 feet and falling.

When the new congress meets next winter, the river and harbor bill, which did not reach a vote in the senate, will be resurrected and doubtless passed.

Eliminating certain items upon which the conferees could not agree, the bill carried $49,655,000, a reduction from the original amounts voted by both the house and senate. The senate's original figures were $50,854,526, and those of the house $59,935,415. The senate bill was used as a basis in conference.

The bill carried more than $1,000,000 for the upper Ohio, and among its provisions were the enlargement of locks 1 and 2 on the Monongahela river; building of a park on Davis island dam; $400,000 for maintaining dredges on the Ohio; $100,000 for a survey of the Ohio from Cincinnati to Cairo, with a view of locating dams, and $150,000 for purchasing sites for the locations of dams 8, 11 and 14, (number 11 being the Brilliant dam), and $100,000 for a site for a dam at Cincinnati. This meant that $2,500,000 would have been spent in the near future on new dams. The proposed new dam below East Liverpool will be held up with the rest.

The amount needed for finishing the Merrill dam at Beaver also falls, but the work already contracted for on the upper Ohio dams now building will not be affected by the failure of the bill to pass. The Monongahela and Allegheny suffer. Improvements on the Monongahela are absolutely needed, as some of the dams are in bad shape and it is said will not stand much longer.

Rivermen all along the stream were deeply interested. Capt. Jas. A. Henderson, president of the Pittsburg and Cincinnati packet line, is quoted as saying:

"The rivermen are up against it and will have to wait. The most serious matter about it is that much of the work already done on the Ohio river improvements will be ruined, because of lack of money to finish them. Take the dam at Merrill, for instance. It only required about $180,000 to finish it, so that the dam could be in working order, but the dam cannot be completed now for two years. It was thought that the dam would be in operation this year. It is a great calamity to Pittsburg. Many men who work on government improvements will be thrown out of work."

And Yet He Could Write.

Among the public servants who are worried by foolish questions the superintendent of mails in the postoffice gets his full share. One of his visitors on a certain occasion was a man who said to the deputy who answered the call at the window:

"I am going out of town today and want to get a letter to my brother, who is on board the Majestic, and she is not due until Wednesday. I don't know where he will stay in New York or where he will go from here. Can you help me?"

"Certainly we can," said the clerk. "A mailboat goes to meet the steamer, and if you address your letter properly and put domestic postage on it it will be delivered all right."

"But how shall I address it—where shall I send it?"

"Address it 'John Smith, passenger on board incoming steamer Majestic, due in New York, Dec. 12' That will reach him."

"No city? No nothing?"

"That's all—just as I told you."

The man thanked the clerk and went away, and came back a little later with an addressed letter in his hand.

"Say," he said to the clerk, "about that letter. I've addressed it and stamped it all right, but the man's name isn't John Smith. How about that?"—New York Tribune.

RIVER MEN PLEASED

Boats Moving and Business Brisk
on the Ohio Once
More.

NOT ENOUGH ICE TO PREVENT

Disappointment General Over the Failure of the River And Harbor Bill. Much Work Will Remain at a Standstill.

Business on the river this morning, was very brisk. All rivermen were wearing smiles and although there is considerable ice floating in the stream, there is a good boating stage, which the coal companies of Pittsburg will use to good advantage.

A number of coal boats were sent out from Pittsburg yesterday, and among those which passed this city today were the Dick Fulton, Alice Brown, B. D. Wood, Jim Wood, Dave Wood, Josh Cook and Charles Brown, having large tows. It is thought that the present rise will enable the coal companies to send out 10,000,000 bushels by tomorrow.

But one accident has been reported. One of the barges hitched to the Pacific got jammed in the heavy ice at Pittsburg. Before it could be hauled clear the frame work was crushed like an egg shell and the contents of the piece, about 25,000 bushels of coal, went to the bottom of the Ohio river. The wreck is lying in about 14 feet of water, but no danger is looked for, as the pilots have all been notified to look out for the wreckage. Efforts will be made to scoop it up today.

The marks at Davis island dam, in the Ohio, last night, showed the stream to be 10.3, but an additional rise was looked for this morning, as reports from the headwaters of the Allegheny were to the effect that the stream was rising at all points, and much water is behind the ice, which is still thick in the river at some places.

The marks at the East Liverpool wharf this morning registered 10 feet and falling.

When the new congress meets next winter, the river and harbor bill, which did not reach a vote in the senate, will be resurrected and doubtless passed.

Eliminating certain items upon which the conferees could not agree, the bill carried $49,655,000, a reduction from the original amounts voted by both the house and senate. The senate's original figures were $50,854,526, and those of the house $59,935,415. The senate bill was used as a basis in conference.

The bill carried more than $1,000,000 for the upper Ohio, and among its provisions were the enlargement of locks 1 and 2 on the Monongahela river; building of a park on Davis island dam; $400,000 for maintaining dredges on the Ohio; $100,000 for a survey of the Ohio from Cincinnati to Cairo, with a view of locating dams, and $150,000 for purchasing sites for the locations of dams 8, 11 and 14, (number 11 being the Brilliant dam) and $100,000 for a site for a dam at Cincinnati. This meant that $2,500,000 would have been spent in the near future on new dams. The proposed new dam below East Liverpool will be held up with the rest.

The amount needed for finishing the Merrill dam at Beaver also falls, but the work already contracted for on the upper Ohio dams now building will not be affected by the failure of the bill to pass. The Monongahela and Allegheny suffer. Improvements on the Monongahela are absolutely needed, as some of the dams are in bad shape and it is said will not stand much longer.

Rivermen all along the stream were deeply interested. Capt. Jas. A. Henderson, president of the Pittsburg and Cincinnati packet line, is quoted as saying:

"The rivermen are up against it and will have to wait. The most serious matter about it is that much of the work already done on the Ohio river improvements will be ruined, because of lack of money to finish them. Take the dam at Merrill, for instance. It only required about $180,000 to finish it, so that the dam could be in working order, but the dam cannot be completed now for two years. It was thought that the dam would be in operation this year. It is a great calamity to Pittsburg. Many men who work on government improvements will be thrown out of work."

And Yet He Could Write.

Among the public servants who are worried by foolish questions the superintendent of mails in the postoffice gets his full share. One of his visitors on a certain occasion was a man who said to the deputy who answered the call at the window:

"I am going out of town today and want to get a letter to my brother, who is on board the Majestic, and she is not due until Wednesday. I don't know where he will stay in New York or where he will go from here. Can you help me?"

"Certainly we can," said the clerk. "A mailboat goes to meet the steamer, and if you address your letter properly and put domestic postage on it it will be delivered all right."

"But how shall I address it—where shall I send it?"

"Address it 'John Smith, passenger on board incoming steamer Majestic, due in New York, Dec. 12.' That will reach him."

"No city? No nothing?"

"That's all—just as I told you."

The man thanked the clerk and went away, and came back a little later with an addressed letter in his hand.

"Say," he said to the clerk, "about that letter. I've addressed it and stamped it all right, but the man's name isn't John Smith. How about that?"—New York Tribune.

CUBA WILL ACCEPT

Opinion That She Will Eventually Agree to the Terms Made by Congress.

ALLEGED REMARK OF WOOD

Not Credited in Washington—Islanders Who Control the Federal Convention Bent on Making Trouble for the United States.

Washington, March 6.—The expectation in Washington is that the Cuban convention will accept the conditions laid down by the American congress, eventually, if not in the immediate future, and that the Cuban delegates will be given to understand that the action of congress was final, having been taken after thorough consideration of the subject, and that such action is not likely to be modified or amended by that body, even if called together again expressly for that purpose, except in the event of the development of a radical and unlooked for change in the situation.

An alleged declaration by Governor General Wood, that if the Cuban constitutional convention refuses to accept the conditions laid down in the Cuban amendment to the army appropriation bill there will be an extra session of congress to consider the situation, created widespread astonishment here.

The statement credited to General Wood is regarded practically as an invitation to them to throw the resolutions adopted by congress into the waste basket, take to the hills and raise the standard of revolt. Public men, notwithstanding this view of Wood's faux pas, are not inclined to hold him to a strict accountability. They have had no other idea for several months than that the Cubans who control the federal convention are intent upon making trouble for the United States.

Peace and order are not the conditions under which they thrive, and the sooner they can stir the prejudice of their followers to the pitch of causing some of them to commit an overt act, the sooner, it is believed, the condition that suit them best will be brought about.

The American forces in the island are smaller than Spain had there at any time during the 30 years prior to the last revolution. This, it is thought encourages the half-breed agitators like Oupote to preach revolution and extinction of the Americans. The reduction of the forces was made for the double purpose of using them elsewhere and of trying the experiment of governing the island without the use of the army. General Wood has succeeded well with all classes except the Cubans of mixed blood, who hate the pure whites, whether Spanish or American.

Government officials here do not believe the report concerning General Wood.

TO LIMIT DEBATE IN SENATE.

Amendment Offered by Platt (Conn.). Mason Gave Notice of Another.

Washington, March 6.—Quite unexpectedly a lively debate was precipitated Tuesday at the first business session of the senate of the Fifty-seventh congress. Mr. Platt, of Connecticut, offered an amendment to the rules to limit debate in the senate. Its proponent had no purpose to provoke discussion upon it, but several senators expressed their views in no uncertain terms. Senator Mason, of Illinois, thought it did not go far enough, and gave notice of an amendment under which he said the majority would not be under the control of the minority. Senators Wellington, of Maryland, and Bacon, of Georgia, denounced the effort to change the rules as unseemly, the former challenging the right of the senate to consider the proposition at this session.

Many of the new senators were recipients of beautiful floral offerings from their friends, several of the pieces on the Democratic side of the chamber being particularly notable. Former Senator Peffer, of Kansas, was on the floor during the early part of the session and was cordially received by his former colleagues.

Soldier Died at Sea.

Washington, March 6.—General Shafter, at San Francisco, reported the death at sea, on board the transport Meade, which has arrived there from Manila, of Private John E. Fleury, Company E. Third cavalry on Feb. 5, of chronic tuberculosis. The Meade brought General Freeman, 98 sick soldiers, 9 insane soldiers, 48 military convicts, the remains of 10 deceased soldiers and a number of officers and privates.

Evans and Taylor Rear Admirals.

Washington, March 6.—It was announced at the navy department that Captains R. D. Evans and H. C. Taylor, having been advanced five numbers for services at the battle of Santiago, were commissioned as rear admirals, to date from Feb. 11 last.

Soldier Died In China.

Washington, March 6.—General Chaffee, at Tien Tsin, reported to the war department that Private Eugene L. Tyon, Company I, Ninth infantry died at Tungchow on the 28th inst from pneumonia.

General Daggett Retired.

Washington, March 6.—General Aaron S. Daggett, recently appointed brigadier general of the army, has been retired.

THE CHINESE PROTESTS.

Ministers to Take Them Up at Next General Meeting.

Pekin, March 6.—The next general meeting of the ministers of the powers will consider the protests of the Chinese plenipotentiaries regarding the legation quarters now established in Chinese public buildings. The British and Russians have taken the board of works, board of revenue and board of ceremonials. The Italians have taken the emperor's personal temple of worship. Fire has destroyed the greater part of the temple of a Thousand Years in the summer palace. Fortunately the effigy of Buddha, weighing 600 tons, was not injured.

The Japanese troops are preparing to leave in transports now on their way to Taku.

May Get Woman Suffrage Through.

Indianapolis, March 6.—By a vote of 52 to 35 the lower house of the Indiana legislature adopted the Neal joint resolution for a constitutional amendment providing for woman suffrage in the state. After the vote a motion to reconsider was voted down to finally clinch the matter. Mr. Neal says he has canvassed the senate on the proposition and has assurances that the resolution will be adopted.

Vaccinated Prisoner and Detectives.

New York, March 6.—William Carl walked into an apartment house, quarantined for smallpox, in East One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street, and stole some rings and gems belonging to Mrs. Emma Cues. Two board of health doctors found the burglar at work and before turning him over to the authorities they vaccinated him, also three detectives who came after him.

Three Americans Killed.

Manila, March 6.—A wagon train and a detachment of the signal corps, together with six Macabebe scouts, were attacked by the insurgents about midway between the towns of Silang and Dasmarias, in Cavite province. Three Americans were killed and two of the Macabebe scouts were wounded, while one man is missing. Four horses and one mule were killed.

Knights of Columbus Met.

New Haven, Conn., March 6.—Delegates from 25 states and from the District of Columbia and the province of Quebec were attending the annual session of the national council, Knights of Columbus, here. Action regarding the rate of insurance for members may be taken, and other business of importance to the order transacted.

Dr. John Ross Dead.

Holldaysburg, Pa., March 6.—Dr. John D. Ross, one of the oldest members of the Pennsylvania State Medical society and the president of the organization in 1865, died at his home at Williamsburg, this county, aged 95 years.

HIGH PROSPERITY

New York, March 6.—The annual report of the Pennsylvania Railroad company published Tuesday proved to be the mainspring of the market. That document showed such a mass of convincing evidence of the high prosperity of the railroad business that it attracted large and substantial buying, not only in that stock, but in many other high grade railroad stocks. The Pennsylvania is always accepted as a representative system, owing to the great diversity of its traffic and the extent of territory embraced in its ramifications. Therefore the showing made of the growth of traffic both in the freight and passenger department, the enormous increase of earnings and the great work accomplished in improvement and betterment, with promise of increased efficiency as an instrument of transportation, had a great influence on the values of railroad stocks. The first influence was felt in the trunk line group, especially those lines in which Pennsylvania has secured an influential interest. It spread to all the principal railroads operating in the trunk line territory, including the coalers, and later in the day stocks of railroads in the western territory moved upwards. The principal stocks effected, including the leaders in the granger and Pacific groups, show gains of 1 to 3½ points. Pennsylvania itself was up 2½, Delaware and Hudson 3½, Baltimore and Ohio 3¼, Great Northern preferred 3¼, Burlington 3 and Norfolk and Western preferred 2¾. In the railroad list the buying was based distinctively on the large earnings.

There was an important speculation in Sugar, as is invariably the case on a dividend day. The stock got above Monday night for a brief time after the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend, but fell 2½ in the late dealings, closing with a net loss of 1½.

The bituminous coal carriers showed signs of strength. The steel stocks were decidedly neglected, the common stocks as a rule being rather heavy, while there was some strength among the preferred stocks. United States Steel was rather dull and about steady in the outside market.

The bond market showed some increasing activity and strength, but continued rather irregular. Standard Rope 6s broke 8 points. Total sales, par value, $5,525,000.

United States refunding 2s and new 4s coupon declined ¼, and do coupon, ¼. The 3s, regular, advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

A Vigilant Police Officer.

The Sebring-Taylor wedding is still a theme of conversation at Sebring. They tell an interesting story of the new chief of police of that new town. Said he to his assistants, a few hours before the great event, and while the arrival of the special train was being awaited: "Now, there's going to be a crowd of people here, and I expect a big gang of pickpockets. Watch for 'em and nab every one." As the "crowd" that went to Sebring went on the special train provided for the wedding guests, one of the latter thought the joke on himself and the wedding attendants too good to keep, as the Sebring officer was thoroughly in earnest and no doubt expected to have his hands full in making arrests of suspicious characters.

CUBA WILL ACCEPT

Opinion That She Will Eventually Agree to the Terms Made by Congress.

ALLEGED REMARK OF WOOD

Not Credited in Washington—Islanders Who Control the Federal Convention Bent on Making Trouble for the United States.

Washington, March 6.—The expectation in Washington is that the Cuban convention will accept the conditions laid down by the American congress, eventually, if not in the immediate future, and that the Cuban delegates will be given to understand that the action of congress was final, having been taken after thorough consideration of the subject, and that such action is not likely to be modified or amended by that body, even if called together again expressly for that purpose, except in the event of the development of a radical and unlooked for change in the situation.

An alleged declaration by Governor General Wood, that if the Cuban constitutional convention refuses to accept the conditions laid down in the Cuban amendment to the army appropriation bill there will be an extra session of congress to consider the situation, created widespread astonishment here.

The statement credited to General Wood is regarded practically as an invitation to them to throw the resolutions adopted by congress into the waste basket, take to the hills and raise the standard of revolt. Public men, notwithstanding this view of Wood's faux pas, are not inclined to hold him to a strict accountability. They have had no other idea for several months than that the Cubans who control the federal convention are intent upon making trouble for the United States.

Peace and order are not the conditions under which they thrive, and the sooner they can stir the prejudice of their followers to the pitch of causing some of them to commit an overt act, the sooner, it is believed, the condition that suit them best will be brought about.

The American forces in the island are smaller than Spain had there at any time during the 30 years prior to the last revolution. The reduction of the forces was made for the double purpose of using them elsewhere and of trying the experiment of governing the island without the use of the army. IRISH ARE DEFIANT

Fought the Officers of the House of Commons in Desperate Fashion.

SOME HAD TO BE CARRIED OUT

A Wild Scene in the English Parliament Resulting From an Attempt to Enforce the Closure Rule—Police Resisted by Hibernians.

London, March 6.—After midnight Mr. Balfour, in the house of commons, applied the closure on the education estimates. The Nationalists shouted "gag, gag," and refused to leave the house, when the division was taken, defying the chairman and afterwards the speaker and sergeant at-arms.

A number of officers and policemen entered to enforce removal.

Mr. Eugene Crean, member for Southeast Cork struggled desperately against removal, and there was quite a free fight on the floor, lasting for about five minutes, other Irishmen assisting him. Eventually he was carried out bodily by six policemen amid yells and cheers.

The police then returned and carried out each of the remaining recalcitrants in the same manner, although there was no further actual resistance. Six policemen sufficed for each member, with the exception of Mr. Flavin, who is a big man, and required eight. Many, as they were being carried out, waved their hands and shouted "God save Ireland."

Those who were removed included Messrs. John Cullinan, Patrick White, Patrick McHugh, William London, William Abraham, Patrick Dugan, Anthony Donelan and James Gilheoly.

The trouble arose through Mr. Balfour closing the whole education estimates without giving an opportunity to discuss the Irish votes.

AMERICAN KILLED IN A DUEL.

Durant Fought in a Duel—Latter Was Wounded.

Paris, March 6.—John MacWilson Durant, of New York, who has been living for the past two years in Paris with his mother, at the Hotel Lafonde Tremouille, has been killed at Ostend in a duel with a Russian count. According to the best information obtainable Mr. Durant had written letters to the wife of the Russian count. The latter's nephew came to Paris to settle the matter, where he met Mr. Durant in a restaurant, where a vicious fight resulted, in which Mr. Durant lost his front teeth. He struck the Russian with a heavy glass water bottle and the latter died, but the doctor's certificate gave congestion of the brain as the cause of death. This occurred during January. Later the count took the matter up, sending his seconds to Mr. Durant.

The latter went to Ostend with his mother, who afterward departed for and is still in Glasgow. A duel was arranged and was probably fought with pistols. HE SLEPT IN SECURITY.

The Tonic a Small Boy Used For His Weak Feeling.

There is a 5-year-old boy in Massachusetts avenue who is of the blood of patriots. His grandfather was in both the Mexican and civil wars, and his father was also a soldier, consequently the little fellow has heard much "flag" talk in his short life and has exalted ideas of its protective qualities. He was the baby of the family till very recently and occupied a crib bed in his mother's room. When the new baby came, Harold was put to sleep in a room adjoining his mother's, and as he had never slept alone before his small soul was filled with nameless fears which he was too proud to tell in full.

"It's mighty lonesome in here, mamma," he called the first night after he had been tucked in his little white bed.

"Just remember the angels are near you and caring for you," replied mamma from the outer room.

"But, mamma," he objected, "I ain't acquainted with any angels, and I'd be scared of them if they came rustling round, same as I would of any other stranger."

"Now, Harold, you must go to sleep quietly. Nothing will hurt you."

"Can't I have the gas lighted in here?"

"No; mamma doesn't think it necessary, and it is not healthy."

There was silence for some time, and then the small voice piped up again.

"Oh, mamma!"

"Yes, dear."

"May I have grandpa's flag?"

"Why, what for? I want you to go right to sleep."

"Please, mamma!" and a small night-gowned figure appeared at the door. "Just let me stick the flag up at the head of my bed, and then I'll go right to sleep, indeed I will! You know the other night grandpa said at the meeting that 'under the protecting folds of the flag the weakest would be safe,' and I feel mighty weak, mamma."

He got the flag, and when his mother looked in on him an hour later he was fast asleep, with a fat little fist under his red cheek, holding fast the end of the "protecting" flag.—Washington Star.

"JES' COMMON OLE MISERY."

Why Rufus Suddenly Decided That He Didn't Have Paralysis.

The boy's name is Rufus, and he was busily engaged in polishing the doctor's shoes while he was being shaved. As was his custom, the doctor said, "How are you feeling, Rufus?"

"I ain't much. Kindly poohly, thank you, doctah," answered the boy.

"What's the matter?"

"Paralysis."

"What?"

"Paralysis."

Had the doctor not been so well acquainted with the negro race, he might have allowed himself to show astonishment. As it was, he determined to see what would result from further inquiries.

"Where's your paralysis?" he asked kindly.

"In the right hip, doctah," he answered.

"It's probably rheumatism," suggested the physician.

"No, indeed. It's paralysis. I reckon I knows rheumatism and I knows paralysis. This is sudden paralysis."

The doctor drew a good sized pin from the lapel of his coat.

"Well, Rufus," he said seriously, "there is only one way to tell. Come here. I'm going to jab this pin in your hip. If it hurts, then you have rheumatism. If you don't feel it, then you are right, and you have paralysis."

The boy did not rise, but drew the rag thoughtfully across the shoe.

Finally he said:

"Doctah, I reckon you mus' know more about them things than I do. I know it ain't nothin but jes' common ole misery."—Kansas City Star.

A Wild Scene in the English Parliament Resulting From an Attempt to Enforce the Closure Rule—Police Resisted by Hibernians.

London, March 6.—After midnight Mr. Balfour, in the house of commons, applied the closure on the education estimates. The Nationalists shouted "gag, gag," and refused to leave the house, when the division was taken, defying the chairman and afterwards the speaker and sergeant at-arms.

A number of officers and policemen entered to enforce removal.

Mr. Eugene Crean, member for Southeast Cork struggled desperately against removal, and there was quite a free fight on the floor, lasting for about five minutes, other Irishmen assisting him. Eventually he was carried out bodily by six policemen amid yells and cheers.

The police then returned and carried out each of the remaining recalcitrants in the same manner, although there was no further actual resistance. Six policemen sufficed for each member, with the exception of Mr. Flavin, who is a big man, and required eight. Many, as they were being carried out, waved their hands and shouted "God save Ireland."

Those who were removed included Messrs. John Cullinan, Patrick White, Patrick McHugh, William London, William Abraham, Patrick Dugan, Anthony Donelan and James Gillehooley.

The trouble arose through Mr. Balfour closing the whole education estimates without giving an opportunity to discuss the Irish votes.

He struck the Russian with a heavy glass water bottle and the latter died, but the doctor's certificate gave congestion of the brain as the cause of death. This occurred during January. Later the count took the matter up, sending his seconds to Mr. Durant.

The latter went to Ostend with his mother, who afterward departed for and is still in Glasgow. A duel was arranged and was probably fought with pistols. Durant was killed and the count was seriously wounded. Durant's engagement to a young French lady was recently announced. They were to be married in March. The names of the Russians in the case have not been ascertained.

Nine Prisoners Broke Jail.

Cumberland, March 6.—Nine men awaiting the action of the April grand jury broke out of the Cumberland jail. They are John Wesley Osborn, Charles O'Berle, Daniel Crother and Walter Dreyer, four young bandits who figured in many holdups and robberies here and are charged with murderous assault on Officer Reuschlein; Frank Francis, charged with burglary; Frank Young, Edward Jenks, James Heckman, all charged with larceny, and William Stanley. The last four are colored.

Davenport May Succeed Evans.

Mr. Evans will be given a diplomatic post. The appointment of Mr. Davenport, who is an old soldier, is being urged by Senator Galigner and Representative Sulloway, both of New Hampshire.

A Convention of Miners Convened, at Altoona, Pa.

Altoona, Pa., March 6.—The miners' convention opened, with President Bernard Rice presiding.

During the course of the proceedings President Rice and Secretary Treasurer Richard Gilbert read their annual report. Both urged the eight-hour day, abolition of pluck-me stores and arbitration of all differences. Gilbert reports 12,842 members in good standing and a balance of over $1,000 in the bank. This is an increase of 7,843 during the last year and over 12,000 two years ago.

HE SLEPT IN SECURITY.

The Tonic a Small Boy Used For His Weak Feeling.

There is a 5-year-old boy in Massachusetts avenue who is of the blood of patriots. His grandfather was in both the Mexican and civil wars, and his father was also a soldier, consequently the little fellow has heard much "flag" talk in his short life and has exalted ideas of its protective qualities. He was the baby of the family till very recently and occupied a crib bed in his mother's room. When the new baby came, Harold was put to sleep in a room adjoining his mother's, and as he had never slept alone before his small soul was filled with nameless fears which he was too proud to tell in full.

"It's mighty lonesome in here, mamma," he called the first night after he had been tucked in his little white bed. "Just remember the angels are near you and caring for you," replied mamma from the outer room.

"But, mamma," he objected, "I ain't acquainted with any angels, and I'd be scared of them if they came rustling round, same as I would of any other stranger."

"Now, Harold, you must go to sleep quietly. Nothing will hurt you."

"Can't I have the gas lighted in here?"

"No; mamma doesn't think it necessary, and it is not healthy."

There was silence for some time, and then the small voice piped up again.

"Oh, mamma!"

"Yes, dear."

"May I have grandpa's flag?"

"Why, what for? I want you to go right to sleep."

"Please, mamma" and a small night-gowned figure appeared at the door. "Just let me stick the flag up at the head of my bed, and then I'll go right to sleep, indeed I will! You know the other night grandpa said at the meeting that 'under the protecting folds of the flag the weakest would be safe,' and I feel mighty weak, mamma."

He got the flag, and when his mother looked in on him an hour later he was fast asleep, with a fat little fist under his red cheek, holding fast the end of the "protecting" flag.—Washington Star.

"JES' COMMON OLE MISERY."

Why Rufus Suddenly Decided That He Didn't Have Paralysis.

The boy's name is Rufus, and he was busily engaged in polishing the doctor's shoes while he was being shaved. As was his custom, the doctor said, "How are you feeling, Rufus?"

"I ain't much. Kindly poohly, thank you, doctah," answered the boy.

"What's the matter?"

"Paralysis."

"What?"

"Paralysis."

Had the doctor not been so well acquainted with the negro race, he might have allowed himself to show astonishment. As it was, he determined to see what would result from further inquiries.

"Where's your paralysis?" he asked kindly.

"In the right hip, doctah," he answered.

"It's probably rheumatism," suggested the physician.

"No, indeed. It's paralysis. I reckon I knows rheumatism and I knows paralysis. This is sudden paralysis."

The doctor drew a good sized pin from the lapel of his coat.

"Well, Rufus," he said seriously, "there is only one way to tell. Come here. I'm going to jab this pin in your hip. If it hurts, then you have rheumatism. If you don't feel it, then you are right, and you have paralysis."

The boy did not rise, but drew the rag thoughtfully across the shoe. Finally he said:

"Doctah, I reckon you mus' know more about them things than I do. I know it ain't nothin but jes' common ole misery."—Kansas City Star.

Quite Fit.

"Mr. Upner," said the prosecuting attorney, "this is an action in which the plaintiff seeks to recover damages for alleged injuries received at the hands of White Caps. Have you heard anything about the case?"

"No, sir," replied the taleman.

"We'll take him, your honor."

"Mr. Upner," asked the attorney for the defense, "do you know what a 'whitcap' is?"

"Yes, sir. It's a wave that's got foam on top of it."

"We'll take him, your honor."—Chicago Tribune.

KILLED HIS GIRL.

BASE BALL PLAYER WELL
KNOWN HERE A MURDERER.

Bud Taylor Quarreled With a Young Lady in Kansas City And Shot Her.

Ruth Nollard, 18 years old, was shot and killed on the street Saturday afternoon at Kansas City, Mo., by Bud
Taylor, 23 years old, a base ball player, formerly her sweetheart with whom she had quarreled.

The girl and her sister were walking in a crowded business district,
Taylor, sitting in a window of a second story room in a lodging house opposite, fired three shots from a repeating rifle. Two bullets struck her, one passing entirely through her chest and the other entering just below the heart and lodging near the fifth rib
at the back. She died in less than an hour, says the Salem Herald.

Miss Nollard and Taylor were engaged to be married, but disagreed
a month ago and the girl forbade Taylor to come to her home. About two weeks ago Taylor choked her almost into insensibility and threatened to kill her at the first opportunity. He was arrested on complaint of Miss Nollard for assault with intention to kill, and was released on bond two weeks ago. His trial was to have taken place yesterday. Taylor rented
a room in the lodging house three weeks ago. The landlord said he staid in the room during the day time,
and it is supposed that he had sat in the window for many hours, rifle in hand, awaiting an opportunity to shoot
the girl without striking others in the crowded streets. She was in the habit
of passing the house every day.

Last year Taylor played ball with
an eastern team and the year before he played with the Nebraska Indians. Taylor played in Salem two years ago with the Nebraska Indians
and made a hit by his fine playing. He caught most of the game, but later went in and pitched the last part. The score was 11 to 9 in favor of the Indians. The game was played near the Ft. Wayne station. Taylor was also well known in this city, Canton
Alliance, Lisbon, New Waterford and East Palestine, where he played with the Indians.

Men Who Handle Millions.

The government is more trustful of
the employees in its financial center than in any private corporation. In the United States treasury the whole output of the nation's currency is handled by men who are under neither surveillance nor bond. The paying teller handles $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 a year. The exchange clerk has every day
$60,000 in change at hand. The money
in charge of the keeper of the cash-
room runs from $170,000,000 upward,
and the chief of the issue division handles millions every day. Any of these men could get away with enormous amounts of money and be reasonably secure against detection for a considerable length of time. Nevertheless, peculations from the treasury have
been few and small in amount during its history. There is an axiom in the department which runs as follows:

"Wherever money is handled there is a point at which the honesty of the individual must be the main reliance."

And so the treasury dispenses with
the services of spotters. However,
private business interests involving the handling of large sums of money are not likely to follow this example. Spot-ters may be an evil, but they are a necessity in the present phase of human development, and until some psychological chemist devises a preparation to make men honest the type is likely to persist.—S. H. Adams in Ainslee's.

A Precocious Baby.

The baby was only 4, but she was an
only child and had lived with her parents largely in hotels, and she was a self possessed little maiden. She was always a model of propriety as to manners, so that when one day a young man, a friend of her papa's and mamma's and a great admirer of the little girl, asked to take her out to luncheon
all by herself she was allowed to go.
A very tiny girl may go without a chaperon sometimes. The little girl was to do the ordering. She undertook this responsibility with confidence and,
taking up the menu, studied it with as much gravity as if the letters were not as unreadable to her as Greek would have been to her mamma.

"I will have some meat and some potatoes," she said gravely, "and by and by I may have some ice cream."

The order was given, the cream followed, and the little lady was an altogether charming, dainty and sweet little companion for luncheon. The meal ended with the dignity with which it
had begun, the young woman donned her wraps, and as the young man was preparing to escort her to the door she remarked gravely:

"And now I will have some flowers."

It was the last touch of grown up-
ness, and it was the proudest young man in New York who took home a pretty and dignified baby with a big bunch of roses in her arms.—New York Times.

A Patent Hole.

Of the many extraordinary things for which patent protection has been granted a hole seems to be the most useless and impossible. Yet there are many patents for holes, and, what is more, the patents are valid and valuable. One of the best relates to holes
in ships' bottoms for the admission
and escape of water to the condensers.

Every one who has seen a screw steamer under way will have noticed a stream of water issuing from her side,
a little above the water line; that water
is pumped into the ship for the purpose of condensing the waste steam
that leaves the cylinders and returning
it as water to the boilers.

At last it occurred to a genius that if a hole were made in the bottom of the ship forward of the condenser and another abaft it, the water would circulate around the condenser without the aid of a pump. It is for the shape of these holes, so that they will offer
less resistance to the water when the ship is traveling fast, that several patents have been granted.

He Certainly Was a Fiend.

The stage was rolling along the canyon trail when suddenly the horses reared back on their haunches as a lone highwayman with a Winchester
appeared on the scene.

"Step out of the hearse, gentlemen,
and hands up!" he ordered.

One by one they climbed out, with elevated hands.

The highwayman relieved the party
and several times was forced to remind
one nervous little man to keep his hand
from his pocket.

"What's the matter with you?" he finally roared. "You make another move like that, and I'll pump the slugs
in you!"

"Please let me," pleaded the man as his hand again slid toward his pocket.

"Please let you!" roared the despera-
do. "Please let you perforate me! You're imposing on my generosity, sonny. Look out! Look out! Keep your mitt away from that pocket, or by the Eternal!"

"But it won't hurt you!" protested the little man. "It won't hurt you at all! Stand just as you are now and keep your rifle leveled. There! That's it!"

And while the highwayman was recovering from his astonishment the little man had flashed his kodak and snapped the button.—Indianapolis Sun.

Love and Thrift.

The late Professor Shuttleworth of London was particularly fond of telling
how, when he once acted as locum
tenens in Devonshire, he had to proclaim the banns of marriage of a young yokel and a village maid. A fortnight later the young swain called
at the professor's lodgings.

"You put up the banns for me," he said.

"Yes, I remember," replied Mr.
Shuttleworth.

"Well," inquired the yokel, "has it got to go on?"

"What do you mean?" asked the professor. "Are you tired of the girl?"

"No," was the unexpected answer,
"but I like her sister better."

"Oh, if the original girl doesn't mind,
you can marry her sister."

"But should I have to be called again?"

"Certainly, that's necessary," answered Mr. Shuttleworth.

"But should I have to pay again?"

"Yes, it would cost you three and six pence."

"Oh, would it?" rejoined the yokel
after reflection. "Then I'll let it remain as it is." And he did.—London Telegraph.

They Eat Themselves.

From various causes, such as anger
and fear, many animals eat their own flesh. Rats, when caught in a trap by the leg, will gnaw off the captured
member, and mice in captivity have been known to bite off their tails. But there are some creatures which go much further and actually eat parts of themselves if left for too long a period
without food.

A hyena belonging to a menagerie
was kept by the proprietor without food in order to tame it. One morning
he was horrified to find that the ferocious creature had actually eaten part
of its own leg.

An eagle in the zoo a few years ago
was noted for the fact that it would now and then pick pieces of flesh out
of its own legs and eat them.

Certain caterpillars and toads devour
their cast off skin. This may be due to fear, but it looks like economy.

There is just a trace of this characteristic in human beings. Children
when in rage sometimes bite their own hands and arms, although it must be admitted that they desist when it begins to hurt.

One Way of Getting Even.

"There is a fellow in our office who is a chronic borrower," said a young man employed in a large Market street establishment recently. "He got into nearly everybody in the place before
we all made up our minds to stop lending. He has owed me $2 for nearly a year, but I'm nearly square, although
he has never paid me a penny of it.
That sounds queer, but it is the truth.
I'll tell you how I've worked it."

"Every once in awhile one of the fellows will say, 'I'm going to make So-
and-so give me what he owes me next pay day or know the reason why.' That's my chance, and I casually remark, 'I'll bet you a quarter you don't get it.' Usually the fellow takes me up, and when pay day comes he loses his bet, for So-and-so never pays. In small bets of quarters and dimes, luncheons and cigars I have nearly got back the amount I originally loaned to the chronic borrower."—Philadelphia Record.

A Testamentary Puzzle.

An Englishman who recently died
had three children, one son and two daughters, and he mentioned all of them in his will.

The first clause is, "I leave my piano

BASE BALL PLAYER WELL
KNOWN HERE A MURDERER.

Lady in Kansas City And Shot Her.

Ruth Nollard, 18 years old, was shot
and killed on the street Saturday afternoon at Kansas City, Mo., by Bud
Taylor, 23 years old, a base ball player, formerly her sweetheart with
whom she had quarreled.

The girl and her sister were walking in a crowded business district,
Taylor, sitting in a window of a second story room in a lodging house opposite, fired three shots from a repeating rifle. Two bullets struck her, one passing entirely through her chest and
the other entering just below the heart and lodging near the fifth rib
at the back. She died in less than an hour, says the Salem Herald.

Miss Nollard and Taylor were engaged to be married, but disagreed
a month ago and the girl forbade
Taylor to come to her home. About two weeks ago Taylor choked her
almost into insensibility and threatened to kill her at the first opportunity. He was arrested on complaint
of Miss Nollard for assault with intent to kill, and was released on bond
two weeks ago. His trial was to have taken place yesterday. Taylor rented
a room in the lodging house three weeks ago. The landlord said he
staid in the room during the day time,
the window for many hours, rifle in
hand, awaiting an opportunity to shoot
the girl without striking others in the
of passing the house every day.

Last year Taylor played ball with
an eastern team and the year before
he played with the Nebraska Indians. Taylor played in Salem two years ago with the Nebraska Indians
and made a hit by his fine playing. He caught most of the game, but later
went in and pitched the last part. The score was 11 to 9 in favor of the Indians. The game was played near
the Ft. Wayne station. Taylor was also well known in this city, Canfon Alliance, Lisbon, New Waterford and East Palestine, where he played with the Indians.

Men Who Handle Millions.

The government is more trustful of
the employees in its financial center
than is any private corporation. In the United States treasury the whole
output of the nation's currency is handled by men who are under neither
surveillance nor bond. The paying teller handles $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 a year. The exchange clerk has every day $60,000 in charge at hand. The money in charge of the keeper of the cash-
room runs from $170,000,000 upward,
and the chief of the issue division
handles millions every day. Any of these men could get away with enormous amounts of money and be reasonably secure against detection for a considerable length of time. Nevertheless,
peculations from the treasury have
been few and small in amount during its history. There is an axiom in the department which runs as follows:

"Wherever money is handled there
is a point at which the honesty of the individual must be the main reliance."
And so the treasury dispenses with
the services of spotters. However,
private business interests involving the
handling of large sums of money are
not likely to follow this example. Spot-ters may be an evil, but they are a necessity in the present phase of human development, and until some psychological chemist devises a preparation to make men honest the type
is likely to persist.—S. H. Adams in Ainslee's.

A Precocious Baby.

The baby was only 4, but she was an only child and had lived with her parents largely in hotels, and she was a self possessed little maiden. She was always a model of propriety as to manners, so that when one day a young
man, a friend of her papa's and mamma's and a great admirer of the little girl, asked to take her out to luncheon
all by herself she was allowed to go.
A very tiny girl may go without a
chaperon sometimes. The little girl
was to do the ordering. She undertook
this responsibility with confidence and,
taking up the menu, studied it with as
as unreadable to her as Greek would
have been to her mamma.

tatoes," she said gravely, "and by and

The order was given, the cream followed, and the little lady was an altogether charming, dainty and sweet little companion for luncheon. The meal
ended with the dignity with which it
had begun, the young woman donned
her wraps, and as the young man was preparing to escort her to the door she
remarked gravely:

"And now I will have some flowers."
It was the last touch of grown up-
ness, and it was the proudest young man in New York who took home a
pretty and dignified baby with a big bunch of roses in her arms.—New York Times.

A Patent Hole.

Of the many extraordinary things for
which patent protection has been granted a hole seems to be the most
many patents for holes, and, what is more, the patents are valid and valuable. One of the best relates to holes
in ships' bottoms for the admission
and escape of water to the condensers.

Every one who has seen a screw
steamer under way will have noticed a
stream of water issuing from her side,
a little above the water line; that water
is pumped into the ship for the purpose of condensing the waste steam
that leaves the cylinders and returning
it as water to the boilers.

At last it occurred to a 'genius' that
if a hole were made in the bottom of the ship forward of the condenser and
another abaft it, the water would circulate around the condenser without
the aid of a pump. It is for the shape
of these holes, so that they will offer
less resistance to the water when the
ship is traveling fast, that several patents have been granted.

He Certainly Was a Friend.

The stage was rolling along the canyon trail when suddenly the horses
reared back on their haunches as a lone highwayman with a Winchester
appeared on the scene.

"Step out of the hearse, gentlemen,
and hands up!" he ordered.
One by one they climbed out, with
elevated hands.

The highwayman relieved the party
and several times was forced to remind
one nervous little man to keep his hand
from his pocket.

"What's the matter with you?" he
finally roared. "You make another
move like that, and I'll pump the slugs
in you!"

"Please let me," pleaded the man as
his hand again slid toward his pocket.

"Please let you!" roared the despera-
do. "Please let you perforate me! You're imposing on my generosity, sonny. Look out! Look out! Keep your mit away from that pocket, or by the Eternal!"

"But it won't hurt you!" protested
the little man. "It won't hurt you at all! Stand just as you are now and keep your rifle leveled. There! That's it!"

And while the highwayman was recovering from his astonishment the little man had flashed his kodak and snapped the button.—Indianapolis Sun.

Love and Thrift.

The late Professor Shuttleworth of London was particularly fond of telling
how, when he once acted as locum
tenens in Devonshire, he had to proclaim the banns of marriage of a young yokel and a village maid. A fortnight later the young swain called
at the professor's lodgings.

"You put up the banns for me," he
said.

"Yes, I remember," replied Mr.
Shuttleworth.

"Well," inquired the yokel, "has it
got to go on?"

"What do you mean?" asked the professor. "Are you tired of the girl?"

"No," was the unexpected answer.
"But I like her sister better."

"Oh, if the original girl doesn't mind,
you can marry her sister."

"But should I have to be 'called
again'?"

"Certainly, that's necessary," answered Mr. Shuttleworth.

"But should I have to pay again?"

"Yes, it would cost you three and six
pence."

"Oh, would it?" rejoined the yokel
after reflection. "Then I'll let it remain as it is." And he did.—London
Telegraph.

They Eat Themselves.

From various causes, such as anger
and fear, many animals eat their own
flesh. Rats, when caught in a trap by
the leg, will gnaw off the captured
member, and mice in captivity have been known to bite off their tails. But there are some creatures which go
much further and actually eat parts of themselves if left for too long a period
without food.

A hyena belonging to a menagerie
was kept by the proprietor without food in order to tame it. One morning
he was horrified to find that the ferocious creature had actually eaten part
of its own leg.

An eagle in the zoo a few years ago
was noted for the fact that it would
now and then pick pieces of flesh out
of its own legs and eat them.

Certain caterpillars and toads devour
their cast off skin. This may be due
to fear, but it looks like economy.

There is just a trace of this characteristic in human beings. Children
when in rage sometimes bite their own hands and arms, although it must be admitted that they desist when it begins to hurt.

One Way of Getting Even.

"There is a fellow in our office who is
a chronic borrower," said a young man
employed in a large Market street establishment recently. "He got into nearly everybody in the place before
we all made up our minds to stop lend-
ing. He has owed me $2 for nearly a year, but I'm nearly square, although
he has never paid me a penny of it.
That sounds queer, but it is the truth.
I'll tell you how I've worked it.

"Every once in awhile one of the fellows will say, 'I'm going to make So-
and-so give me what he owes me next pay day or know the reason why.'
That's my chance, and I casually remark, 'I'll bet you a quarter you don't get it.' Usually the fellow takes me
up, and when pay day comes he loses
his bet, for So-and-so never pays. In
small bets of quarters and dimes,
luncheons and cigars I have nearly got back the amount I originally loaned to
the chronic borrower."—Philadelphia

Editor—I have already. It came in

Poet (gasping joyfully)—Ah!
Editor—While I was writing my last editorial I ran out of copy paper; your poem, being written on one side of the paper only, just helped me out.—

A Testamentary Puzzle.

An Englishman who recently died
had three children, one son and two daughters, and he mentioned all of them in his will.

The first clause is, "I leave my piano
to Mary Elizabeth, when Arthur has done with it." The other clause is,
"To Susan Jane—she may take whatever Arthur wishes to give to her."

There is no doubt of Arthur's standing in the document, but the pointed

and Susan Jane beneficiaries under the EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

16TH YEAR. NO. 226

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1901.

Sudden Arrival of Zero Temperature Caught People Unprepared.

FROZEN HYDRANTS PLENTY

Burst Water Pipes Also Reported. Mayor Davidson Had His Troubles. Zero And Below at Several Points in the City And Vicinity.

Last night was the coldest of the season. Many bursted water pipes and frozen hydrants in the city this morning furnished all the evidence of this fact that was necessary.

The residents of all sections of the city were inconvenienced by the sudden cold snap. It was a common sight at an early hour to see men armed with an empty water bucket in search of a hydrant that was not frozen.

Mayor Davidson was very careful in arranging matters at his home on Fifth street last evening, and took the precaution to shut off the water in such a manner that none remained in the escape pipe. When he arose this morning the pipe was frozen so tight that it was impossible to get a drop of water through it. It was a mystery where the frost lay, as his honor could hells through the thing and even run a stick the full length, but no water would pass. The mayor spent several hours in an attempt to figure out the problem, and finally gave it up.

Work at a number of the potteries was delayed this morning, owing to the cold weather affecting the condition of the clay.

There is some dispute as to just how cold it was at 7 o'clock this morning, and it would be difficult to give the exact figures. However, the people who gave the following, without a single exception, insist they are precisely correct:

Second and Union.....	3 below
Sixth and Diamond.....	zero
First National bank.....	2 below
Fire station	2 below
Simm's hill	3 below
Fifth and Jefferson	3 below
Jethro	zero
East End	3 below

Reports from Salem and Lisbon are to the effect that the thermometer registered about four degrees below at those points. One source of gratification was that the gas supply did not give out. Had the Ohio Valley company failed to make the repairs to their line the suffering in this community would have been intense.

OFF THE TRACK TWICE.

One Street Car From Wellsville Had a Tough Experience.

A resident of this city was in Wellsville last evening and boarded a street car for East Liverpool at 9:30. He reached the Diamond at exactly 11 o'clock, having spent just one hour and a half on the road. The car was off the track three times during the trip.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS.

W. F. Crossley Now in Charge of Columbiana Telephones.

S. C. Thayer, president and general manager of the Columbiana Telephone company, has resigned his position, and will take a responsible berth with the Century Telephone company, of Cleveland.

W. F. Crossley, who has been with the company for some time, will look after the duties of the office for the present. The headquarters of the company will be maintained at Salem.

BOUGHTON FINED $200.

East Liverpool Youth Gets a Salty Dose of Wheeling Justice. A Year in Jail.

Wheeling, March 6.—J. W. Boughton, who was arrested Monday evening by the police, was arraigned yesterday before Squire M. J. Fitzpatrick on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was fined $200 and costs and in default of payment was given one year in jail.

Boughton is wanted by the East Liverpool authorities for stealing a watch and gold filled case valued at $25 and an overcoat valued at $10 from F. M. Marsh, of that city. When arrested he had the coat on and the watch was found in a pawnshop.

Boughton had enlisted in the army for Philippine service, but had not been sworn in. When an attempt was made to arrest him he showed fight and threatened to shoot the officer and made good his escape. He was later arrested. It is said he will only be held on the charge of carrying concealed weapons until requisition papers can be secured to take him to Ohio.

BOND ACCEPTED.

C. A. Smith Wins One Round in the Appeal of the Case Against Mason.

Information from Beaver this morning says that the prothonotary of Beaver county has accepted the bond of C. A. Smith in his appeal of the suit brought against him by A. G. Mason.

This means that the case will get a second hearing. The bond is for $250,000, and is signed by C. A. Smith and William Banfield. The action was taken after a second hearing, and the result is regarded as a victory for Mr. Smith.

GRANTED A DIVORCE.

Mrs. Ophelia Blue, of This City, Legally Separated From Her Husband.

Lisbon, March 6.—(Special.)—Mrs. Ophelia Blue, of East Liverpool, was granted a divorce today from William Blue, on statutory grounds. It was claimed he broke his marriage vows in Wellsville and Blanche Jenkins was named as corespondent. They were married in New Cumberland, W. Va. in 1894. The plaintiff resides in East Liverpool, where she is quite well known.

McBride is Commissioner.

Bridgeport, O., March 6.—Patrick McBride, for many years national secretary of the United Mine Workers of America, has been appointed commissioner for the mine operators in the No. 8 seam in Jefferson, Harrison, Carroll, Guernsey and Belmont counties. He is virtually an arbitrator who can be called into any dispute by either miner or operator, and his decision is final as far as mine officials are concerned.

$73,579 58 on Hand.

Lisbon, March 6.—(Special.)—Dr. T. B. Marquis, of Lisbon, and Attorney Charles Boyd, of Wellsville, examined the condition of the county treasury this morning and report a total of $73,579 58. The claims of John R. Martin in dispute are reported to be $2,114 40.

IMPORTANT SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Supplee Land Company Formed and an East End Tract Purchased.

FINE MANUFACTURING SITE

A Large Plant, Probably a Pottery, Will Be Located There—Twenty Acres in the Tract, Which Borders Upon the Ohio River.

The most important real estate deal in the East End for more than a year has just been closed. A corporation to be known as the Supplee Land company has been formed and has purchased the 20-acre plat of land formerly belonging to Charles N. Thompson. This is situated just above the Abner Martin property, lying between the railroad and the river.

Walter C. Supplee was the promoter of the project and the company was organized for the purpose of "buying and selling and dealing in real estate and all things incident thereto, subject to the provisions of section 3235, revised statutes of Ohio, and to exist for the term of 25 years."

The company will be incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000, and the articles of incorporation are signed by the following persons: William C. Thompson, Charles N. Thompson, Frank Allbaugh, R. J. Marshall and W. C. Supplee.

By reason of its location this property is a most valuable manufacturing site. One of the foremost objects of the corporation is to secure the location of a large plant here at an early date. It is not yet definitely known what kind of a plant will be built, but it will probably be a pottery, and while the plans are as yet too immature to warrant a statement as to its probable size. A number of local capitalists are interested, and it is known that it will not be a small one.

A part of the land will be held for speculative purposes, and the investment promises to be very successful from a financial standpoint.

CAN'T FIND HIS WATCH.

William Brooks Invokes the Law's Aid to Get Back a Pawned Timepiece.

William Brooks, a porter at the National house, pawned his watch some time ago to Philip Dufford and Dufford afterward sold it to Charles Brown, another colored man.

When Brooks was ready to redeem the timepiece he discovered the state of affairs, and at once caused a writ of replevin to be issued in the court of Justice McLane. The writ was executed, but Brown had sold the watch and knew nothing of its whereabouts. This he made clear in the 'squire's court today, and it is now up to Brooks to have another affidavit issued. It may be that he will proceed against Dufford for doing a pawn brokerage business without a license.

DIRE THREAT MADE.

Letter Writer Wants $500 or Else He Will Burn the Senator's Eyes Out.

Upper Sandusky, O., Mar. 6.—Senator Gear received another letter from the same party who threatened to burn his home, waylay his daughter Florence and burn out his eyes with a red-hot poker, unless given $500. The second letter scores the senator unmercifully for having the first letter published, and threatens dire injury to his entire family, but the language is too vile for publication.

The writing is in the same hand as the previous letter, and a clue was afforded in the characteristic of a certain word. Federal authorities are now at work on the case.

A SUIT FOR COSTS

Lisbon, March 6.—(Special.)—Ex-Sheriff Charles Gill and Probate Judge Boone filed suit in court this morning against A. L. Elton, Owen Stackhouse and David Kidler, trustees of West township. Three years ago a ditch case was tried in probate court and when settled judgment for a part of the costs, amounting to $267, was assessed against the trustees of West township. Sheriff Gill had $84 30 costs and Judge Boone $45 90, and the trustees refuse to pay. The court is asked to issue a writ of mandamus to compel the trustees to levy a tax to pay these costs.

B. M. Oliver and C. L. Welday, of Steubenville, state in a petition filed this morning that last December they purchased a registered horse called "Don," from T. P. Brown, of Salem, for $300. They claim that Brown falsely represented the horse to be sound in every particular, while as a fact the animal is rheumatic, has stiff joints and is no good. They say they gave a note for the amount and Brown is insolvent and about to transfer the note to others, which will cause them trouble. They want him restrained from doing so. The court is asked to give plaintiff judgment for the amount.

A motion for a new trial in the case of James Nelson against the city of East Liverpool was argued and overruled. The case was tried during the September term of court, when the jury found in favor of the city.

TURNERS PROSPEROUS.

Organization Growing And Members Working Hard in the Hope of Future Honors.

Interest has been revived recently in the class at Turner hall. The society engaged a new physical director a few weeks ago, and since that time the membership has been steadily increasing.

At the meeting tomorrow night about 20 new members will be added, and it is likely the class will increase at every meeting. It has been decided to hold two meetings each week after tomorrow, on Tuesday and Friday evenings.

It is the intention to work hard during the coming year in order that the class may be able to capture at least a portion of the events at the coming turnfest. There is no reason why this cannot be accomplished, as there was a time when the local class was second to none in the district, and it is reasonable to suppose that just as good material still exists in the city as ever.

Goes West for Treatment.

Mrs. C. H. Morris left last evening for St. Louis for the purpose of placing her little son, Charles H. Morris, in a medical institute to take treatment for spinal trouble. They were accompanied as far as Steubenville by Mr. Morris.

A BIG PRODUCER IS LOOKED FOR

Oil Well East of Chester Starts Off at the Rate of Ten Barrels a Day.

Oil Men Say the Territory Gives Promise of Being More Productive Than Turkeyfoot—Many More Wells Will Be Drilled.

The oil well on the Williams farm, located two miles east of Chester, was drilled in yesterday. The well started to flow at the rate of 10 barrels a day as soon as the sand was reached. When shot it is expected to be, at least, a 50-barrel producer. This is one of the several test wells which are being drilled in this section, and it is thought that the location of the pool is shown by this well.

The sand here is 28 feet thick, and according to the opinion of oil men, gives promise of a more productive field than the Turkeyfoot territory at the lower end of the county when first opened.

Another boiler was expected to arrive at Chester today, and arrangements are being made to bore in more holes near this one as soon as possible.

It was learned today that several local capitalists are forming a company and will try to secure control of the land in this end of the county not already leased.

Pittsburg and Wheeling capitalists have leases of all the land in the vicinity of the well. If future developments meet present expectations the Southside will experience a considerable boom as a result of the opening of this field.

SMOKER AND SOCIAL.

The Most Successful Meeting Ever Held by the Clerks' Union.

The grocery and butcher clerks' union held a very important meeting last evening. Twelve new members were initiated and 15 applications were received, upon which action will be taken at the next meeting.

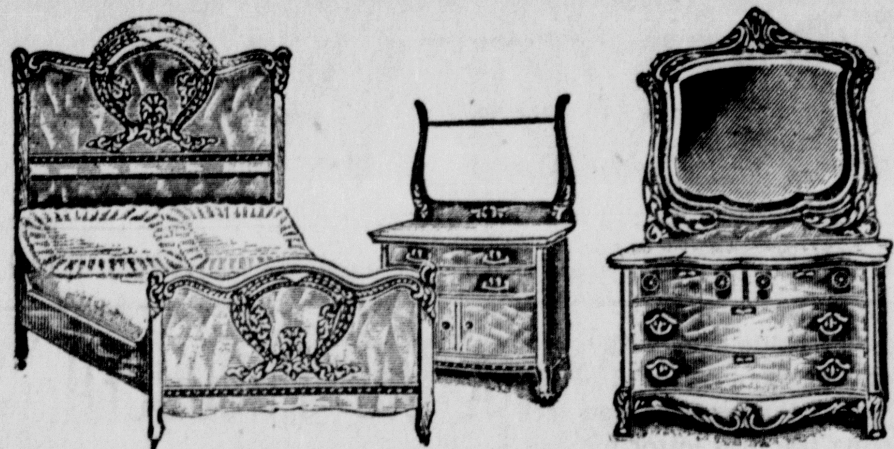

After the business meeting a social and smoker were held. The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and after addresses by President Woods and others, the members partook of an elegant lunch. The meeting is reported to have been the most successful ever held by the organization.

The Jail Tenants.

For the first time in more than three weeks the jail has not a single occupant. The four colored individuals, Jessie Alexander, George Southall, David Brown and Paul Lacey, paid their fines yesterday and were released. "Nattie" Marland and George Stewart were let out Monday and James Bentley's time expired yesterday.

Survey Completed.

Steubenville, March 6.—Chief Assistant Civil Engineer Silas W. McConnell, of the Panhandle railroad has completed the survey of the proposed extension of the New Cumberland branch from Chester as far as Georgetown, and with the crew that assisted him in this work, has returned to Steubenville.

STILL IN THE FIELD.

Alex Chaffin Trying Hard to Get On the Councilmanic Ticket.

Alex Chaffin is canvassing the other candidates for permission to have his name printed on the regular ticket, in accordance with an agreement with the Republican central committee. All but one have given their consent.

J. J. Weisend says that Alex had just decided to come out on the Democratic ticket, which he formerly voted, and that the Republican central committee became alarmed and offered him an opportunity to come back into the fold.

Now that Alex is again on the roll, a number of young men have decided to visit him and pledge their support, provided that he will agree to have a club house built in the East End. There is now no loafing place whatever for the boys, and they are obliged to change places as often as the proprietor gets mad. It is thought that if the "Baron de Chaffinville" will agree to this plan that his election is assured.

ADVERTISING DID IT.

Georgia Burton Got a Husband in a Short Time.

Henry E. Clemons and his bride, formerly Georgia Burton, of Klondike left this morning for Clyde, O., where they will reside. The groom stated that he was a farmer and wanted a wife very bad when he saw Georgia's advertisement in the Cleveland Press and answered it. It didn't take long to complete arrangements.

Eureka Circle is Growing.

Eureka Circle No. 86 initiated the following candidates last night: Harry Holtzman, Herbert Harrison and wife Harvey Wolcott, Mrs. Catherine Stevens, Gus Brandenburg and Charley Foutts.

The membership of this circle is now over 200, making it one of the largest in the state.

East End Gossip.

Herman Supplee is ill with the measles.

Charles Gallagher has just received several game chickens and is thinking of going into this kind of poultry business exclusively.

Mrs. John Downard, who has been suffering with a complication of diseases for some time, is somewhat improved, but is still very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hoskins, of Martin's Ferry, are visiting Mr. Hoskins' mother, who has been very ill for some time. She is now in a critical condition.

One of the new cars was very cold yesterday evening. It is thought that it came in contact with one of the old cars in the barn and the disease was contagious.

VOTING PLACES LOCATED.

Those in Two Precincts of the First Ward Finally Selected.

The precinct committeemen in the First ward have at last succeeded in securing places for holding the city Republican primary. The first precinct has been located at Robert Hall's office, Broadway, and the second at the residence of Julius Stern, corner of Minerva and Avondale streets. This completes the list of nine precincts in the various wards, and they are the same as those used at the regular election.

COL. GUFFEY'S LUCK.

It Was Not Always Good, But He Kept On Till Fortune Smiled.

James M. Guffey, principal owner of the great Lucas oil well in Texas, is the hero of an uncommon career, which is set forth in detail in the March number of the World's Work.

He was a school boy just out of his teens when he made his first venture at Pithole, a city which once had a population of 30,000, but whose former site is now a cow pasture. He lost the money he had taken with him to Pithole, nor did a larger measure of success attend his operations during the next few years; but after each failure he took fresh courage and for a decade or more roamed the hills and valleys of western Pennsylvania, pushing the drill in out-of-the-way places with an energy that seemed a great deal like lunacy to less persistent men.

Guffey's opportunity came with the discovery of the Cherry Grove district. He was one of the first in that field, and secured leases which yielded him a comfortable fortune. He now owns oil and gas wells in half a dozen states, and for several years past has been the largest individual oil producer in the world. One day last summer there was a letter in his mail from a man in Texas, in which the writer stated that he had 15,000 acres of land in Jefferson county, that state, under oil leases. He would like Guffey to join him in drilling a test well. Guffey wrote the Texan to get leases on 30,000 acres, when he would help him. The bargain was made, and its first fruit was the Lucas well, which has already produced oil worth $400,000.

CROWDS WERE TOO GREAT.

Overloaded Trains Kept One Man From Going to Washington.

John W. Harris arrived in the city from Reading yesterday and will spend a few days with his parents here. Mr. Harris went to Harrisburg Monday with the intention of going to the inauguration. He arrived there in time to see one of the regular trains, usually composed of three sections, come in with 14 sections. All the passengers aboard the 14 trains were piled in nine.

There was not an available inch of space left. The people were sitting on the top of cars and hanging onto the guard rails. Mr. Harris changed his mind and came to this city instead of going to Washington.

Presents Valued at $12,000.

Patterson Fowler, boss cooper at the Sebring potteries, has just completed three large double-hooped casks in which the presents given at the Taylor-Sebring wedding will be shipped to East Liverpool. All the cut glass and silverware, to the value of about $12,000, will be sent in this way.

DISFRANCHISES MANY.

Annapolis, Md., March 6.—Prominent political leaders are here from different sections of Maryland. Chief among them is former United States Senator Arthur Pue Gorman, who arrived and took up quarters in a furnished room house opposite the state house. With him are half a dozen of his most trusted lieutenants, who, together with Mr. Gorman, will remain during the special session of the legislature and direct the fight which is generally believed will result either in Mr. Gorman's ultimate return to the United States senate or probably his final retirement from state and national politics. The Republicans are prepared for a bitter contest under the leadership of United States Senator McComas, assisted by Phillips Lee Goldsborough, chairman of the Republican state central committee and a strong candidate for Senator Wellington's seat in the event that the next assembly is Republican. The bill to amend the elections laws so as to prevent illiterates from casting their ballots is, of course, the principal object for which the special session was called.

The effect of the measure said to have been prepared, if passed, will be to practically disfranchise about 90 per cent of the 52,000 colored voters of the state and make a Democratic legislature next year almost a certainty. The Democrats, however, have but a bare constitutional majority in the senate, and are visibly uneasy lest their plans go wrong and the bill fail of passage.

INHERITS A FORTUNE.

Miss Young, Daughter of the Late Probate Judge, Gets an Estate in California.

Miss Frank Young, daughter of the late Probate Judge P. C. Young, has inherited a small fortune and is now in California. Miss Young after the death of her father went to Pittsburg, where she began teaching a private school. She had made up her mind to leave for Philadelphia to enter a hospital and become a trained nurse.

Her trunk was packed and she was ready to start when a telegram was received, announcing the fact that her uncle had died in California, leaving her his life insurance of $10,000 and a small fortune in addition.

GOT OFF WITH FINES.

Young Men Who Drove Over a Child Paid $18.60 Each.

Lisbon, March 6.—(Special)—The young men who were arrested Monday for driving over Mary McDonald, aged 10, had a hearing yesterday. They gave their names as W. F. McKee and A. C. George, of Kensington. The latter is a son of Mrs. Anna George, who was accused of the murder of George Saxton at Canton.

The young men were allowed to plead guilty to fast driving and each paid a fine of $18.60.

Happy old age

Many women who have enjoyed good health all their life begin to fade when they reach the age of forty-four. They grow nervous and irritable and suffer with sick-headaches. Their livers are torpid, their digestion is impaired and their bowels are irregular. They are experiencing the "change of life." And it is not strange that the cessation of the menstrual habit after thirty years operation should disturb the system and tax the strongest constitution. This trying period has no terror for a woman who uses Wine of Cardui. It builds up her strength and prepares her for the ordeal. When the change of life is not safely passed, a woman quickly becomes an invalid. Slumbering disease germs are given increased activity and they appear in aggravated form. If you take Wine of Cardui regularly when approaching the change of life you will be assured better health than you have ever enjoyed before. A happy old age and restful calm will be your reward. Mrs. Campbell was cured after suffering three years with "change of life." Theford's Black-Draught, the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui, assimilates with it perfectly, curing digestive liver and kidney affections, and throwing impurities and disease germs out of the system. Both working together make a well and happy woman.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

YOUNG, Laurens Co., S. C., Sept. 22, 1899.
I have recommended your Wine of Cardui and Theford's Black-Draught to several of my lady friends, and I can say they are what you recommend them to be. I have been suffering three years with the "change of life," and I did not get anything that would do me any good until I tried your medicines. I give thanks to Wine of Cardui and you, for it relieved me. Mrs. D. H. CAMPBELL.

What Forty Poles Make.

A good story is told about a certain professor whose business it was to lecture to a number of students on surveying. During one of the lectures, the professor said that in his opinion the pole was of little or no value. To the astonishment of those present a Polish gentleman arose and, after accusing the professor of insulting his countrymen, demanded an apology.

The professor thereupon explained that the pole to which he referred was merely a term of measurement. The Polish gentleman, seeing his mistake, asked the professor to forgive his apparent rudeness. To this the professor smartly replied:

"You could not be rude, sir, even if you tried, for it takes 40 poles to make one road!"

"So On."

Lady Dorothy Nevill is one of the wittiest women in London society. Some time ago there was a rich and ambitious man in society who went in for entertaining largely and especially for making his parties interesting and representative. A marked falling off began to take place after awhile in the quality of his guests. Lady Dorothy, commenting on this deterioration, said, "Once we used to meet Brown and Whistler and Henry James and so on there; but now we only meet—so on."—Chambers' Journal.

Conference of Hocking Valley Coal Operators on the Wage Scale

Important Decision on Government Power to Levy Taxes—Sale of the Baltimore & Ohio to the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling.

Columbus, O., March 6.—The operators of the Hocking Valley and officials of the Ohio miners' organization were in session, discussing the wage scale and the 15 rules which govern the working of the "diggers." On two there has been a disagreement. The first is in regard to the docking system of amounts of coal deducted from the miners when dirt is found in the coal cars. The operators are apparently inclined to blame the miners for this complaint. The other disagreement is in regard to the amount of coal to be loaded on a car. The operators, it is said, want to receive all coal loaded on a car above the limit provided. Vice President Thomas Lewis, of the national organization, may be in at today's session.

DECISION ON LEVYING TAXES.

Government Has No Power to Tax So as to Interfere With Officials.

Cincinnati, March 6.—The United States circuit court of appeals rendered an opinion declaring that the United States has no power to tax state officials, so as to interfere with the functions of office. The case arose out of a suit by W. W. Warwick, a notary public of this city, to recover from Internal Revenue Collector Bettman 50 cents paid to him under the provision of the war revenue bill as tax on his bond as a notary. Judge Thompson, of the district court, ruled in favor of Warwick and the case was appealed. The court of appeals said that if such a tax could be exacted from notaries it might be exacted from other state officials, and the amount might be increased until the office would be destroyed and officers of the state prevented from performing their duties. The authority of Chief Justice Marshall in McCullagh vs Maryland was cited in support of the finding of the court.

STATEMENT LIKELY CORRECT.

President Woodford Sold C. L. & W. May Be Sold.

Cleveland, March 6.—Concerning the sale of the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling railroad to the Baltimore and Ohio, President W. R. Woodford, of the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling, said last night:

"I have not been officially informed of the sale of the property, but do not doubt that the statement given out by Mr. Salomon is a correct one. It is a reasonable outcome of the result of recent negotiations."

Rev. Dr. Schuch Resigned.

Columbus, O., March 6.—President H. J. Schuch, D. D., of the Capital University, tendered his resignation and will return to Pittsburg, where he formerly held a position as pastor in a Lutheran church. The resignation was accepted at a special meeting of the trustees and a successor will be chosen.

They propose to construct a steam railway from Adena, in Jefferson county, to Martins Ferry, in Belmont county.

Columbus, O., March 6.—The fifth

A New B. & O. Line.

Akron, March 6.—It is said that the Baltimore & Ohio contemplates now to build a line from Lester on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling to Lodi, on the Akron & Chicago Junction division, and thus cut out the circuitous route by which Chicago trains over the Baltimore & Ohio now enter Cleveland. From Lodi, the B. & O. has the most direct possible line to Chicago.

Animals That Bloom.

Anemones, sponges, the sea cucumbers and certain other growths which bloom and apparently behave in all respects like plants are really animals.

The petals of the anemone, resembling those of a chrysanthemum, are really tentacles to catch food and put it into the hollow tube which forms the stomach, where it is digested. The sea cucumber has a flattened body. It occasionally moves at a snail's pace over the mud or sand, digging its petals, or arms, into the sludge for food, to obtain which it swallows a fair proportion of mud. It has power to sting and so keeps away its enemies.

The sea lily so exactly resembles the common lily that it is difficult to realize that it is an animal and belongs to the starfish family. It has a stalk two feet long, with a disk for a body. The tentacles close round the disk, which has a mouth, and completes the deceptive likeness. They are the oldest form of animal life on earth, and their fossils are called "stone lilies."

These creatures were believed to be plants and many people still refuse to believe otherwise.

Milk.

An English physician, commenting on the tendency of London bred persons to die young, says that they drink too little milk. Even in the country "milk is not such a common article of diet as it was in past years, and children are not nourished according to hygienic laws."

A new virtue is ascribed to milk by The Practical Druggist, which says it is the best general preventive of the absorption of poison by the human system.

Mother—That gentleman seems very attentive to you, Clara. What sort of a young man do you find him?

Clara—Oh, he seems all right, but a little empty, perhaps.

Mother (who always takes things literally)—My dear Clara, what a very shocking remark. I know he was very ill the first few days out, but fancy noticing such a thing.—Pick-Me-Up.

An Epitaph.

In the churchyard of Leigh, near Bolton, will be found a tombstone bearing the following amazing sentence: "A virtuous woman is 5s. to her husband." The explanation seems to be that space prevented "a crown" being cut in full, and the stonemason argued that a crown equals 5s.—Notes and Queries.

His Indignant Inquiry.

He (on his knees)—Darling, I love you with all my heart, with all my soul and with all the strength of my being. She—Are you in earnest, Clarence? He (reproachfully)—In earnest! Say, do you think I am bagging my trousers this way for fun?—Puck.

HEARING AS TO OLEO.

President Shaffer Argued For It, at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, March 6.—The senate committee on public health and sanitation and the house committee on agriculture held a joint meeting last night for the purpose of hearing arguments for and against the Snyder bill, which regulates the sale of oleomargarine. Senator Quail, of Schuylkill, acted as chairman of the joint meeting. One hour and a half was allowed each side.

The first speaker heard was President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of America. He said the enactment of the pending bill would work incalculable hardship on the thousands of rolling mill men who have families. Oleomargarine and butterine, he said, are a godsend to the poor man, because of its low price. The workmen of the state, he added, were almost unanimous that there be no change in the present law.

Editor Trencher, of The New Era, a labor journal, and L. R. Groucher, a Philadelphia labor representative, also argued along the same lines as Mr. Shaffer.

The Coughing Bean.

To the ordinary housemaid the falling of a house plant into a violent paroxysm of coughing is naturally disconcerting. Yet there are plants which will do this when the broom or the duster begins to make dust fly. This singular plant is the "coughing bean," known to the botanist as the Eutada tessiens. It is a native of warm and moist tropical countries and cannot and will not stand dust. When dust settles upon the breathing pores in the leaves of this plant and chokes them, a gas accumulates inside the leaves, and when it gains sufficient strength forcibly "blows off," clearing the pores of dust and making a sound exactly like coughing. At the same time the leaves tremble and the plant actually "gets red in the face," through the sinking of the green chlorophyll grains and the appearance of red particles on the leaves. This plant is sometimes used as a house plant, and sweeping the room sets it coughing, to the intense astonishment of persons not familiar with its peculiarities.

Missed His Guess.

An American who was sojourning in Spain at the time says that on the day when Dewey was destroying the Spanish squadron at Manila a representative audience, including some of Spain's bravest and best, were attending a patriotic bullfight in Madrid, applauding these words of the famous matadore: "With the ease with which I have killed this noble animal, the bull, will the glorious Spanish nation uphold the traditions of the past and keep green the laurels of their illustrious fathers by triumphing over the Yankee pig."

Lynching Danger May Be Over.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1901.

JUSTICE TO CUBA.

Some of our Democratic contemporaries are greatly exercised because the administration shows a disposition to look after the interests of Cuba a little longer. In this they profess to see a purpose to absorb the island bodily, without its knowledge or consent, into the body of this great Republic.

The Democratic professions of alarm are absolutely nonsensical, as every man of good sense in that party must know. The pledge given to Cuba that the people of that island are to have absolute independence as soon as they have established a stable government is one that will be kept. By the votes of both Republicans and Democrats in congress, the whole nation gave its promise to Cuba, and there is no intention or desire to violate the obligation. No one will maintain that a stable government now exists in Cuba, although the island is steadily advancing in that direction. It would be anything but kindness or justice to abandon to their own devices the people we have befriended and for whom we have fought, just at this critical juncture.

Cuba will have complete independence, and we hope it will soon be here but the United States must not withdraw its helping hand from the islanders for a little while. As soon as Cuba has a government that that can govern, it is the duty of the United States to withdraw, and it will do so with satisfaction and not with reluctance. It would not be surprising if Cuba, after a brief trial of self-government, should come clamoring at our doors for admission, but that is a question that need not be discussed until it arises. Meantime the Cuban question that now exists is being settled with as much rapidity as the demands of wisdom and justice permit. It will soon cease to worry those vigilant Democrats who seem to live in constant terror lest the nation to which they belong shall do something dishonorable and who magnify every act of a Republican administration, however just or proper it may be, into a wrong, if they see an opportunity of arousing political prejudice by so doing.

UNREASONABLE CRITICS.

Democratic critics have had a good deal to say concerning the elaborate preparations that were made for the inauguration at Washington, but we do not imagine, had they been so fortunate as to have had a Democratic president to inaugurate, there would have been any marked Jeffersonian simplicity about the ceremonies. This is no longer a nation of primitive backwoodsmen, as it was in the days when, tradition avers, Jefferson rode to the capital in a suit of homespun, tied his horse to a tree and modestly walked to the spot where he was to take the oath of office as president. No farmer would now visit the capital in homespun or on horseback.

Times have changed and we have changed with them. As Thomas B. Reed remarked, we have become a billion dollar country, and we do many things on a scale that would have opened the eyes of our forefathers. We have a national dignity to maintain, and it is fitting that an important national event, especially a joyous one like the second inauguration of a great president, should be celebrated with becoming ceremony. The expenses of the inauguration festivities are not paid out of the public purse, but mainly by private subscriptions. No Democrat is compelled to pay for them or even witness them. As for the crowds that flock into Washington, as long as the railroads run excursion trains, they will continue to go there on such occasions and to be guided by their own inclinations as to whether they shall spend much or little money.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Mansfield News, hits the nail squarely on the head when it says: "It seems rather impudent for those to criticize who favored candidates and policies that a few years ago made everybody so deucedly poor that they couldn't afford to spend anything on presidential inaugurations." But the Democrat who is not "fornest" anything and everything said or done by Republicans is a rare bird.

CHEERFUL SCHOOL ROOMS.

An item from the county seat says: "About 50 pictures have been placed in the Lisbon schools, which add not a little to the attractiveness of the rooms." Time was, and not so very long ago either, when a school room with walls ornamented otherwise than by blackboards, charts and maps, would have been a decided novelty. Most of us who have reached mature years can remember when school-houses were built with a view solely to utility. In the country they were hideous wooden boxes, usually posted in the bleakest and least attractive spot in the neighborhood. In towns they were unpretentious, ill-ventilated structures, of no architectural beauty whatever, and often with surroundings the dingiest and most unpleasant.

Educators have been educated since our grandfathers' days. They are learning even now. Teachers and school officers have learned that good surroundings help to make good scholars. The eye should be educated as well as the mind. Pretty playgrounds, flowers and pictures in the school rooms all have a healthy, civilizing influence. In most communities the school buildings themselves are usually the best in the neighborhoods where they are located, and efforts towards advancing and giving them a cheerful appearance both inside and out are constantly being put forth. It is a tendency that should be encouraged.

All the Ohioans who went to Washington have not returned. From the stories told of high rates charged by the hotels in the crowded capital it is barely possible some have been compelled to start back on foot.

The spring poet and the man with a spring suit are both in a fix.

The groundhog's prophecy may prove true after all.

SIX CONVERTS.

The M. P. Church Revival Grows in Interest—The Singing Evangelist.

Six more conversions were made last night, following the three on Monday night is the encouraging report from the meeting in the Methodist Protestant church. Prof. Evans, the singing evangelist, seems better than ever. He seldom sings but people bow and weep. A large congregation was present last night.

Preliminary meeting tonight at 7:30, public service at 8, and the pastor and congregation assure all comers a cordial welcome.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH SERVICES.

The Singing Will Be an Especially Attractive Feature Tonight.

The services at the Christian church were well attended last night notwithstanding the cold weather. A. Dow Butterick, whose singing is highly appreciated by all who have heard him, will sing tonight the song entitled "Memories of Mother." There will be preaching by the pastor, Rev. J. William Gorrell, subject, "Modern Excuses."

Services every night this week at 7:45 p. m.

Elaborate Easter Program.

A most elaborate program of Easter music is being prepared by the vested choir of St. Stephen's Episcopal church under the skillful management of Miss Florence Everson. It is the intention of the rector to present to his people the most impressive Easter service ever witnessed in this city, and he will spare no pains to carry out his plan. Lenten services will be held each week until Easter as follows: Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at 4:30 p. m.; Wednesday and Friday at 12:30 and 7:30 p. m.

First Baptist Church.

Interesting services will be held at the First Baptist church, Smith-Fowler hall, in the Diamond, at 7:30 tomorrow evening. Dr. H. H. Bawden, state missionary, will conduct the meeting, and a most interesting one is anticipated. Dr. Bawden, who is an accomplished vocalist and organist, will preside at the organ and will also lead the singing. The church officers issue an earnest invitation to the public to be present.

Two Conversions.

There were two conversions at the revival services at the First M. E. church last evening. The services throughout were full of interest, and the meetings seem to be attracting

The Rev. Mr. Roseburg delivered a very interesting lecture on "The Passion Play" at the Second U. P. church last night. A large audience was in attendance.

HIGH FREIGHT RATES.

Make English Crockery Cheaper Than Ours Away Out West.

"English crockery is sold more cheaply in the state of Washington than American crockery, although the price at the pottery is about the same," said H. A. Rhodes, of Tacoma, Wash., last night at the Victoria. Mr. Rhodes is a dealer in porcelain, glassware, pottery, china, etc., with a large department store at Tacoma.

"The reason for this anomaly," he says, "is entirely a matter of freight. The English goods are brought all the way to Puget sound by ship around Cape Horn, while it is customary to ship the American product by rail the long journey across the continent. Another peculiar fact about the state of Washington is that it has overcome one of the oldest customs of that old inhabitant, the Chinese of China. By sheer force of enterprise it has converted the natives of a large part of China from a rice-eating to a wheat-eating people, and now there are annually tens of thousands of bushels of wheat grown in Washington and shipped to China to supply this Chinese demand.—Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

RIVER MEN PLEASED

on the Ohio Once
More.

NOT ENOUGH ICE TO PREVENT

Disappointment General Over the Failure of the River And Harbor Bill. Much Work Will Remain at a Standstill.

Business on the river this morning was very brisk. All rivermen were wearing smiles and although there is considerable ice floating in the stream, there is a good boating stage, which the coal companies of Pittsburg will use to good advantage.

A number of coal boats were sent out from Pittsburg yesterday, and among those which passed this city today were the Dick Fulton, Alice Brown, B. D. Wood, Jim Wood, Dave Wood, Josh Cook and Charles Brown, having large tows. It is thought that the present rise will enable the coal companies to send out 10,000,000 bushels by tomorrow.

But one accident has been reported. One of the barges hitched to the Pacific got jammed in the heavy ice at Pittsburg. Before it could be hauled clear the frame work was crushed like an egg shell and the contents of the piece, about 25,000 bushels of coal, went to the bottom of the Ohio river. The wreck is lying in about 14 feet of water, but no danger is looked for, as the pilots have all been notified to look out for the wreckage. Efforts will be made to scoop it up today.

The marks at Davis island dam, in the Ohio, last night, showed the stream to be 10.3, but an additional rise was looked for this morning, as reports from the headwaters of the Allegheny were to the effect that the stream was rising at all points, and much water is behind the ice, which is still thick in the river at some places.

The marks at the East Liverpool wharf this morning registered 10 feet and falling.

When the new congress meets next winter, the river and harbor bill, which did not reach a vote in the senate, will be resurrected and doubtless passed.

Eliminating certain items upon which the conferees could not agree, the bill carried $49,655,000, a reduction from the original amounts voted by both the house and senate. The senate's original figures were $50,854,526, and those of the house $59,935,415. The senate bill was used as a basis in conference.

The bill carried more than $1,000,000 for the upper Ohio, and among its provisions were the enlargement of locks 1 and 2 on the Monongahela river; building of a park on Davis island dam; $400,000 for maintaining dredges on the Ohio; $100,000 for a survey of the Ohio from Cincinnati to Cairo, with a view of locating dams, and $150,000 for purchasing sites for the locations of dams 8, 11 and 14, (number 11 being the Brilliant dam), and $100,000 for a site for a dam at Cincinnati. This meant that $2,500,000 would have been spent in the near future on new dams. The proposed new dam below East Liverpool will be held up with the rest.

The amount needed for finishing the Merrill dam at Beaver also falls, but the work already contracted for on the upper Ohio dams now building will not be affected by the failure of the bill to pass. The Monongahela and Allegheny suffer. Improvements on the Monongahela are absolutely needed, as some of the dams are in bad shape and it is said will not stand much longer.

Rivermen all along the stream were deeply interested. Capt. Jas. A. Henderson, president of the Pittsburg and Cincinnati packet line, is quoted as saying:

"The rivermen are up against it and will have to wait. The most serious matter about it is that much of the work already done on the Ohio river improvements will be ruined, because of lack of money to finish them. Take the dam at Merrill, for instance. It only required about $180,000 to finish it, so that the dam could be in working order, but the dam cannot be completed now for two years. It was thought that the dam would be in operation this year. It is a great calamity to Pittsburg. Many men who work on government improvements will be thrown out of work."

And Yet He Could Write.

Among the public servants who are worried by foolish questions the superintendent of mails in the postoffice gets his full share. One of his visitors on a certain occasion was a man who said to the deputy who answered the call at the window:

"I am going out of town today and want to get a letter to my brother, who is on board the Majestic, and she is not due until Wednesday. I don't know where he will stay in New York or where he will go from here. Can you help me?"

"Certainly we can," said the clerk. "A mailboat goes to meet the steamer, and if you address your letter properly and put domestic postage on it it will be delivered all right."

"But how shall I address it—where shall I send it?"

"Address it 'John Smith, passenger on board incoming steamer Majestic, due in New York, Dec. 12.' That will reach him."

"No city? No nothing?"

"That's all—just as I told you."

The man thanked the clerk and went away, and came back a little later with an addressed letter in his hand.

"Say," he said to the clerk, "about that letter. I've addressed it and stamped it all right, but the man's name isn't John Smith. How about that?"—New York Tribune.

WAREHOUSEMEN ELECT.

New Officers for Local Union No. 48 Chosen.

Local union No. 48, warehousemen, held their annual election of officers last evening in Odd Fellows' hall. The following were elected: President, Lawrence Stevenson; vice president, John Heisler; recording secretary, Colin McLane; financial secretary, Joseph Roberts; treasurer, T. O. Terrence; trustee, George Baum.

President Hughes was present at the meeting, which was one of the best attended and most successful in the history of the organization. This local, while not as old as some of the others, is making rapid strides toward the front rank. Four new members will be taken in at the next meeting.

The Jiggermen Aiding.

Trenton, N. J., March 6.—The manufacturing potters in this city are beginning a movement to fight the excessive freight charges imposed upon them by the railroads in shipping goods to the west. They have enlisted the sympathy of the jiggermen, and several communications have passed between the two organizations. This action is taken by the jiggermen to mean a recognition of their organization, which is looked upon as a belligerent one by the Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Among the Potteries.

John Flood has resigned his position as engineer at the Klondike plant. Miss Isabella Ball is off duty at the Sevres China company, owing to illness.

The National Pottery company has sold lot No. 4046, Klondike addition, to Henry E. Sprenger, of Beaver, Pa.; consideration private.

John A. Campbell, general manager of the Trenton Potteries company, is being advocated as a trustee of Princeton University, of which he is a graduate.

Secretary T. J. Duffey, of the Brotherhood, arrived home from Toronto this morning after a visit to the local in that place. The gentleman reports that organization in a flourishing condition and prospects for the future as very bright.

CUBA WILL ACCEPT

Opinion That She Will Eventually Agree to the Terms Made by Congress.

ALLEGED REMARK OF WOOD

Not Credited in Washington—Islanders Who Control the Federal Convention Bent on Making Trouble for the United States.

Washington, March 6.—The expectation in Washington is that the Cuban convention will accept the conditions laid down by the American congress, eventually, if not in the immediate future, and that the Cuban delegates will be given to understand that the action of congress was final, having been taken after thorough consideration of the subject, and that such action is not likely to be modified or amended by that body, even if called together again expressly for that purpose, except in the event of the development of a radical and unlooked for change in the situation.

An alleged declaration by Governor General Wood, that if the Cuban constitutional convention refuses to accept the conditions laid down in the Cuban amendment to the army appropriation bill there will be an extra session of congress to consider the situation, created widespread astonishment here.

The statement credited to General Wood is regarded practically as an invitation to them to throw the resolutions adopted by congress into the waste basket, take to the hills and raise the standard of revolt. Public men, notwithstanding this view of Wood's faux pas, are not inclined to hold him to a strict accountability. They have had no other idea for several months than that the Cubans who control the federal convention are intent upon making trouble for the United States.

Peace and order are not the conditions under which they thrive, and the sooner they can stir the prejudice of their followers to the pitch of causing some of them to commit an overt act, the sooner, it is believed, the condition that suit them best will be brought about.

The American forces in the island are smaller than Spain had there at any time during the 30 years prior to the last revolution. This, it is thought encourages the half-breed agitators like Cypote to preach revolution and extinction of the Americans. The reduction of the forces was made for the double purpose of using them elsewhere and of trying the experiment of governing the island without the use of the army. General Wood has succeeded well with all classes except the Cubans of mixed blood, who hate the pure whites, whether Spanish or American.

Government officials here do not believe the report concerning General Wood.

TO LIMIT DEBATE IN SENATE.

Amendment Offered by Platt (Conn.). Mason Gave Notice of Another.

Washington, March 6.—Quite unexpectedly a lively debate was precipitated Tuesday at the first business session of the senate of the Fifty-seventh congress. Mr. Platt, of Connecticut, offered an amendment to the rules to limit debate in the senate. Its proponent had no purpose to provoke discussion upon it, but several senators expressed their views in no uncertain terms. Senator Mason, of Illinois, thought it did not go far enough, and gave notice of an amendment under which he said the majority would not be under the control of the minority. Senators Wellington, of Maryland, and Bacon, of Georgia, denounced the effort to change the rules as unseemly, the former challenging the right of the senate to consider the proposition at this session.

Many of the new senators were recipients of beautiful floral offerings from their friends, several of the pieces on the Democratic side of the chamber being particularly notable.

Former Senator Pepper, of Kansas, was on the floor during the early part of the session and was cordially received by his former colleagues.

THE CHINESE PROTESTS.

Ministers to Take Them Up at Next General Meeting.

Pekin, March 6.—The next general meeting of the ministers of the powers will consider the protests of the Chinese plenipotentiaries regarding the legation quarters now established in Chinese public buildings. The British and Russians have taken the board of works, board of revenue and board of ceremonies. The Italians have taken the emperor's personal temple of worship. Fire has destroyed the greater part of the temple of a Thousand Years in the summer palace. Fortunately the effigy of Buddha, weighing 600 tons, was not injured.

The Japanese troops are preparing to leave in transports now on their way to Taku.

May Get Woman Suffrage Through.

Indianapolis, March 6.—By a vote of 52 to 35 the lower house of the Indiana legislature adopted the Neal joint resolution for a constitutional amendment providing for woman suffrage in the state. After the vote a motion to reconsider was voted down to finally clinch the matter. Mr. Neal says he has canvassed the senate on the proposition and has assurances that the resolution will be adopted.

Vaccinated Prisoner and Detectives.

New York, March 6.—William Carl walked into an apartment house, quarantined for smallpox, in East One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street, and stole some rings and gems belonging to Mrs. Emma Cues. Two board of health doctors found the burglar at work and before turning him over to the authorities they vaccinated him, also three detectives who came after him.

Three Americans Killed.

Manila, March 6.—A wagon train and a detachment of the signal corps, together with six Macabebe scouts, were attacked by the insurgents about midway between the towns of Silang and Dasmariñas, in Cavite province. Three Americans were killed and two of the Macabebe scouts were wounded, while one man is missing. Four horses and one mule were killed.

New York, March 6.—The annual report of the Pennsylvania Railroad company published Tuesday proved to be the mainspring of the market. That document showed such a mass of convincing evidence of the high prosperity of the railroad business that it attracted large and substantial buying, not only in that stock, but in many other high grade railroad stocks. The Pennsylvania is always accepted as a representative system, owing to the great diversity of its traffic and the extent of territory embraced in its ramifications. Therefore the showing made of the growth of traffic both in the freight and passenger department, the enormous increase of earnings and the great work accomplished in improvement and betterment, with promise of increased efficiency as an instrument of transportation, had a great influence on the values of railroad stocks. The first influence was felt in the trunk line group, especially those lines in which Pennsylvania has secured an influential interest. It spread to all the principal railroads operating in the trunk line territory, including the coalters, and later in the day stocks of railroads in the western territory moved upwards. The principal stocks effected, including the leaders in the granger and Pacific groups, show gains of 1 to 3½ points. Pennsylvania itself was up 2½, Delaware and Hudson 3½, Baltimore and Ohio 3½, Great Northern preferred 3½, Burlington 3 and Norfolk and Western preferred 2½. In the railroad list the buying was based distinctively on the large earnings.

There was an important speculation in Sugar, as is invariably the case on a dividend day. The stock got above Monday night for a brief time after the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend, but fell 2½ in the late dealings, closing with a net loss of 1½.

The bituminous coal carriers showed signs of strength. The steel stocks were decidedly neglected, the common stocks as a rule being rather heavy, while there was some strength among the preferred stocks. United States Steel was rather dull and about steady in the outside market.

The bond market showed some increasing activity and strength, but continued rather irregular. Standard Rope 6s broke 8 points. Total sales, par value, $5,525,000.

United States refunding 2s and new 4s coupon declined ½, and do coupon, ¼. The 3s, regular, advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

A Vigilant Police Officer.

The Sebring-Taylor wedding is still a theme of conversation at Sebring. They tell an interesting story of the new chief of police of that new town. Said he to his assistants, a few hours before the great event, and while the arrival of the special train was being awaited: "Now, there's going to be a crowd of people here, and I expect a big gang of pickpockets. Watch for 'em and nab every one." As the "crowd" that went to Sebring went on the special train provided for the wedding guests, one of the latter thought the joke on himself and the wedding attendants too good to keep, as the Sebring officer was thoroughly in earnest and no doubt expected to have his hands full in making arrests of suspicious characters.

IRISH ARE DEFIANT

Fought the Officers of the House of Commons In Desperate Fashion.

A Wild Scene in the English Parliament Resulting From an Attempt to Enforce the Closure Rule—Police Resisted by Hibernians.

London, March 6.—After midnight Mr. Balfour, in the house of commons, applied the closure on the education estimates. The Nationalists shouted "gag, gag," and refused to leave the house, when the division was taken, defying the chairman and afterwards the speaker and sergeant at-arms.

A number of officers and policemen entered to enforce removal.

Mr. Eugene Crean, member for Southeast Cork struggled desperately against removal, and there was quite a free fight on the floor, lasting for about five minutes, other Irishmen assisting him. Eventually he was carried out bodily by six policemen amid yells and cheers.

The police then returned and carried out each of the remaining recalcitrants in the same manner, although there was no further actual resistance. Six policemen sufficed for each member, with the exception of Mr. Flavin, who is a big man, and required eight. Many, as they were being carried out, waved their hands and shouted "God save Ireland."

Those who were removed included Messrs. John Cullinan, Patrick White, Patrick McHugh, William London, William Abraham, Patrick Dugan, Anthony Donelan and James Gilhooly.

The trouble arose through Mr. Balfour closing the whole education estimates without giving an opportunity to discuss the Irish votes.

AMERICAN KILLED IN A DUEL.

Durant Fought in a Duel—Latter Was Wounded.

Paris, March 6.—John MacWilson Durant, of New York, who has been living for the past two years in Paris with his mother, at the Hotel Lafonde Tremoille, has been killed at Ostend in a duel with a Russian count. According to the best information obtainable Mr. Durant had written letters to the wife of the Russian count. The latter's nephew came to Paris to settle the matter, where he met Mr. Durant in a restaurant, where a vicious fight resulted, in which Mr. Durant lost his front teeth. He struck the Russian with a heavy glass water bottle and the latter died, but the doctor's certificate gave congestion of the brain as the cause of death. This occurred during January. Later the count took the matter up, sending his seconds to Mr. Durant.

The latter went to Ostend with his mother, who afterward departed for and is still in Glasgow. A duel was arranged and was probably fought with pistols. Durant was killed and the count was seriously wounded. Durant's engagement to a young French lady was recently announced. They were to be married in March. The names of the Russians in the case have not been ascertained.

Nine Prisoners Broke Jail.

Cumberland, March 6.—Nine men awaiting the action of the April grand jury broke out of the Cumberland jail. They are John Wesley Osborn, Charles O'Berle, Daniel Crother and Walter Dreyer, four young bandits who figured in many holdups and robberies here and are charged with murderous assault on Officer Reuschlein; Frank Francis, charged with burglary; Frank Young, Edward Jenks, James Heckman, all charged with larceny, and William Stanley. The last four are colored.

Davenport May Succeed Evans.

Washington, March 6.—It is said that James L. Davenport, of New Hampshire, deputy commissioner will most likely succeed H. Clay Evans as commissioner of pensions.

Mr. Evans will be given a diplomatic post. The appointment of Mr. Davenport, who is an old soldier, is being urged by Senator Galigner and Representative Sulloway, both of New Hampshire.

8-HOUR DAY URGED.

A Convention of Miners Convened, at Altoona, Pa.

Altoona, Pa., March 6.—The miners' convention opened, with President Bernard Rice presiding.

During the course of the proceedings President Rice and Secretary Treasurer Richard Gilbert read their annual report. Both urged the eight-hour day, abolition of pluck-me stores and arbitration of all differences. Gilbert reports 12,842 members in good standing and a balance of over $1,000 in the bank. This is an increase of 7,843 during the last year and over 12,000 two years ago.

Anti-Vice Crusade at Altoona.

Altoona, Pa., March 6.—An anti vice crusade has been started here by the Anti-Saloon league. Forty-one informations have been made against hotel men, dive keepers, gambling houses and speakeasies by Rev. R. A. Hutchinson, the league's president, and they are now being bound over for court by local aldermen.

Girl Strikers Declined Terms.

Scranton, Pa., March 6.—The striking silk mill girls have definitely decided not to accept the offer of a settlement on the basis offered by Superintendent Davis, of the Sanquet mill. The proposals of a settlement which were so promising a few days ago have now vanished, and the real fight is on.

George D. Bechtel Dead.

Altoona, Pa., March 6.—George D. Bechtel, cashier of the First National bank, of this city, died suddenly of peritonitis, aged 38 years.

New York—A 16-year-old actress, whose stage name was Mamie Ci-relli, was shot and killed by Antonio Triolo, 20 years old, at Mulberry and Bayard streets. Triolo was arrested. He said the girl had preferred other men to him and that he could not live without her.

San Francisco—Walter E. Stewart, Jr., of New York, and formerly a second lieutenant in the Third Infantry was found dead in a public square. Stewart was court martialed in Manila for unbecoming conduct, but later secured an honorable discharge from the army on account of sickness.

Washington, March 6.—It is understood that Mr. Chambers, of Alabama, late chief justice of Samon, is to be appointed a commissioner to adjust the claims of American citizens arising out of the war with Spain.

HE SLEPT IN SECURITY.

There is a 5-year-old boy in Massachusetts avenue who is of the blood of patriots. His grandfather was in both the Mexican and civil wars, and his father was also a soldier, consequently the little fellow has heard much "flag" talk in his short life and has exalted ideas of its protective qualities. He was the baby of the family till very recently and occupied a crib bed in his mother's room. When the new baby came, Harold was put to sleep in a room adjoining his mother's, and as he had never slept alone before his small soul was filled with nameless fears which he was too proud to tell in full.

"It's mighty lonesome in here, mamma," he called the first night after he had been tucked in his little white bed. "Just remember the angels are near you and caring for you," replied mamma from the outer room.

"But, mamma," he objected, "I ain't acquainted with any angels, and I'd be scared of them if they came rustling round, same as I would of any other stranger."

"Now, Harold, you must go to sleep quietly. Nothing will hurt you."

"Can't I have the gas lighted in here?"

"No; mamma doesn't think it necessary, and it is not healthy."

There was silence for some time, and then the small voice piped up again.

"Oh, mamma!"

"Yes, dear."

"May I have grandpa's flag?"

"Why, what for? I want you to go right to sleep."

"Please, mamma!" and a small night-gowned figure appeared at the door. "Just let me stick the flag up at the head of my bed, and then I'll go right to sleep. Indeed I will! You know the other night grandpa said at the meeting that 'under the protecting folds of the flag the weakest would be safe,' and I feel mighty weak, mamma."

He got the flag, and when his mother looked in on him an hour later he was fast asleep, with a fat little fist under his red cheek, holding fast the end of the "protecting" flag.—Washington Star.

"JES' COMMON OLE MISERY."

Why Rufus Suddenly Decided That He Didn't Have Paralysis.

The boy's name is Rufus, and he was busily engaged in polishing the doctor's shoes while he was being shaved. As was his custom, the doctor said, "How are you feeling, Rufus?"

"I ain't much. Kindly poohly, thank you, doctah," answered the boy.

"What's the matter?"

"Paralysis."

"What?"

"Paralysis."

Had the doctor not been so well acquainted with the negro race, he might have allowed himself to show astonishment. As it was, he determined to see what would result from further inquiries.

"Where's your paralysis?" he asked kindly.

"In the right hip, doctah," he answered.

"It's probably rheumatism," suggested the physician.

"No, indeed. It's paralysis. I reckon I knows rheumatism and I knows paralysis. This is sudden paralysis."

The doctor drew a good sized pin from the lapel of his coat.

"Well, Rufus," he said seriously, "there is only one way to tell. Come here. I'm going to jab this pin in your hip. If it hurts, then you have rheumatism. If you don't feel it, then you are right, and you have paralysis."

The boy did not rise, but drew the rag thoughtfully across the shoe. Finally he said:

"Doctah, I reckon you mus' know more about them things than I do. I know it ain't nothin but jes' common ole misery."—Kansas City Star.

"Mr. Upner," said the prosecuting attorney, "this is an action in which the plaintiff seeks to recover damages for alleged injuries received at the hands of White Caps. Have you heard anything about the case?"

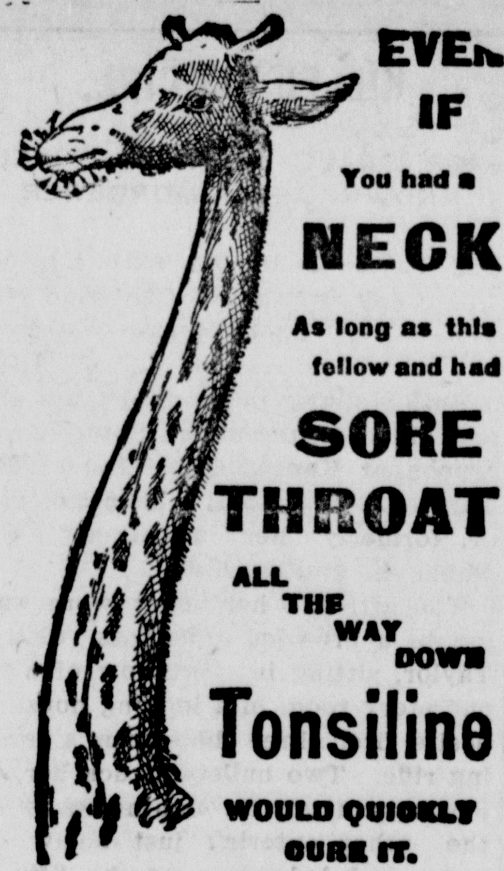

"No, sir," replied the talesman.

"We'll take him, your honor."

"Mr. Upner," asked the attorney for the defense, "do you know what a 'whitcap' is?"

"Yes, sir. It's a wave that's got foam on top of it."

BASE BALL PLAYER WELL
KNOWN HERE A MURDERER.

Bud Taylor Quarreled With a Young Lady in Kansas City And Shot Her.

Ruth Nollard, 18 years old, was shot and killed on the street Saturday afternoon at Kansas City, Mo., by Bud
Taylor, 23 years old, a base ball player, formerly her sweetheart with
whom she had quarreled.

The girl and her sister were walking in a crowded business district.
Taylor, sitting in a window of a second story room in a lodging house opposite, fired three shots from a repeating rifle. Two bullets struck her, one passing entirely through her chest and
the other entering just below the heart and lodging near the fifth rib
at the back. She died in less than an hour, says the Salem Herald.

Miss Nollard and Taylor were engaged to be married, but disagreed
a month ago and the girl forbade
Taylor to come to her home. About two weeks ago Taylor choked her
almost into insensibility and threatened to kill her at the first opportunity. He was arrested on complaint
of Miss Nollard for assault with intent to kill, and was released on bond
two weeks ago. His trial was to have taken place yesterday. Taylor rented
a room in the lodging house three weeks ago. The landlord said he staid in the room during the day time,
and it is supposed that he had sat in
the window for many hours, rifle in
hand, awaiting an opportunity to shoot
the girl without striking others in the crowded streets. She was in the habit
of passing the house every day.

Last year Taylor played ball with
an eastern team and the year before
he played with the Nebraska Indians. Taylor played in Salem two years ago with the Nebraska Indians
and made a hit by his fine playing. He caught most of the game, but later
went in and pitched the last part. The score was 11 to 9 in favor of the Indians. The game was played near the Ft. Wayne station. Taylor was also well known in this city, Canton
Alliance, Lisbon, New Waterford and East Palestine, where he played with the Indians.

Men Who Handle Millions.

The government is more trustful of
the employees in its financial center
than is any private corporation. In the United States treasury the whole
output of the nation's currency is handled by men who are under neither surveillance nor bond. The paying teller handles $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 a year. The exchange clerk has every day
$60,000 in change at hand. The money
in charge of the keeper of the cash-
room runs from $170,000,000 upward,
and the chief of the issue division
handles millions every day. Any of these men could get away with enormous amounts of money and be reasonably secure against detection for a considerable length of time. Nevertheless,
peculations from the treasury have
been few and small in amount during its history. There is an axiom in the department which runs as follows:

"Wherever money is handled there
is a point at which the honesty of the individual must be the main reliance."

And so the treasury dispenses with
the services of spotters. However,
private business interests involving the
handling of large sums of money are not likely to follow this example.
Spotters may be an evil, but they are a necessity in the present phase of
human development, and until some psychological chemist devises a preparation to make men honest the type is likely to persist.—S. H. Adams in Ainslee's.

A Precocious Baby.

The baby was only 4, but she was an
only child and had lived with her parents largely in hotels, and she was a self possessed little maiden. She was always a model of propriety as to manners, so that when one day a young man, a friend of her papa's and mamma's and a great admirer of the little girl, asked to take her out to luncheon
all by herself she was allowed to go.
A very tiny girl may go without a
chaperon sometimes. The little girl
was to do the ordering. She undertook
this responsibility with confidence and,
taking up the menu, studied it with as much gravity as if the letters were not
as unreadable to her as Greek would
have been to her mamma.

"I will have some meat and some potatoes," she said gravely, "and by and

The order was given, the cream followed, and the little lady was an altogether charming, dainty and sweet little companion for luncheon. The meal
ended with the dignity with which it
had begun, the young woman donned
her wraps, and as the young man was preparing to escort her to the door she
remarked gravely:

"And now I will have some flowers."

It was the last touch of grown up-
ness, and it was the proudest young man in New York who took home a pretty and dignified baby with a big bunch of roses in her arms.—New York Times.

A Patent Hole.

Of the many extraordinary things for
which patent protection has been granted a hole seems to be the most useless and impossible. Yet there are many patents for holes, and, what is
more, the patents are valid and valuable. One of the best relates to holes
in ships' bottoms for the admission
and escape of water to the condensers.

Every one who has seen a screw
steamer under way will have noticed a stream of water issuing from her side,
a little above the water line; that water
is pumped into the ship for the purpose of condensing the waste steam
that leaves the cylinders and returning
it as water to the boilers.

At last it occurred to a genius that
if a hole were made in the bottom of the ship forward of the condenser and
another abaft it, the water would circulate around the condenser without
the aid of a pump. It is for the shape
of these holes, so that they will offer
less resistance to the water when the
ship is traveling fast, that several patents have been granted.

He Certainly Was a Fiend.

The stage was rolling along the canyon trail when suddenly the horses
reared back on their haunches as a lone highwayman with a Winchester
appeared on the scene.

"Step out of the hearse, gentlemen,
and hands up!" he ordered.

One by one they climbed out, with elevated hands.

The highwayman relieved the party
and several times was forced to remind
one nervous little man to keep his hand
from his pocket.

"What's the matter with you?" he
finally roared. "You make another
move like that, and I'll pump the slugs
in you!"

"Please let me," pleaded the little man as his hand again slid toward his pocket.

"Please let you!" roared the despera-
do. "Please let you perforate me!
You're imposing on my generosity, sonny. Look out! Look out! Keep your mit away from that pocket, or by the Eternal!"

"But it won't hurt you!" protested
the little man. "It won't hurt you at all! Stand just as you are now and keep your rifle leveled. There! That's
it!"

And while the highwayman was recovering from his astonishment the little man had flashed his kodak and snapped the button.—Indianapolis Sun.

Love and Thrift.

The late Professor Shuttleworth of London was particularly fond of telling
how, when he once acted as locum
tenens in Devonshire, he had to proclaim the banns of marriage of a young yokel and a village maid. A fortnight later the young swain called
at the professor's lodgings.

"You put up the banns for me," he
said.

"Yes, I remember," replied Mr.
Shuttleworth.

"Well," inquired the yokel, "has it
got to go on?"

"What do you mean?" asked the professor. "Are you tired of the girl?"

"No," was the unexpected answer.
"but I like her sister better."

"Oh, if the original girl doesn't mind,
you can marry her sister."

"But should I have to be 'called
again?"

"Certainly, that's necessary," answered Mr. Shuttleworth.

"But should I have to pay again?"

"Yes, it would cost you three and six
pence."

"Oh, would it?" rejoined the yokel
after reflection. "Then I'll let it remain as it is." And he did.—London
Telegraph.

They Eat Themselves.

From various causes, such as anger
and fear, many animals eat their own
flesh. Rats, when caught in a trap by
the leg, will gnaw off the captured
member, and mice in captivity have been known to bite off their tails. But there are some creatures which go
much further and actually eat parts of themselves if left for too long a period
without food.

A hyena belonging to a menagerie
was kept by the proprietor without food in order to tame it. One morning
he was horrified to find that the ferocious creature had actually eaten part
of its own leg.

An eagle in the zoo a few years ago
was noted for the fact that it would
now and then pick pieces of flesh out
of its own legs and eat them.

Certain caterpillars and toads devour
their cast off skin. This may be due
to fear, but it looks like economy.
There is just a trace of this characteristic in human beings. Children
when in rage sometimes bite their own hands and arms, although it must be admitted that they desist when it begins to hurt.

One Way of Getting Even.

"There is a fellow in our office who is
a chronic borrower," said a young man
employed in a large Market street establishment recently. "He got into nearly everybody in the place before
we all made up our minds to stop lend-
ing. He has owed me $2 for nearly a year, but I'm nearly square, although
he has never paid me a penny of it.
That sounds queer, but it is the truth.
I'll tell you how I've worked it.

"Every once in awhile one of the fellows will say, 'I'm going to make So-
and-so give me what he owes me next pay day or know the reason why.' That's my chance, and I casually remark, 'I'll bet you a quarter you don't get it.' Usually the fellow takes me
up, and when pay day comes he loses
his bet, for So-and-so never pays. In small bets of quarters and dimes,
luncheons and cigars I have nearly got back the amount I originally loaned to
Record.

It Came In Handy.

Poet—I left a poem here the other day. Do you think you can use it?

Editor—I have already. It came in so handy, I simply had to.

Poet (gasping joyfully)—Ah!

Editor—While I was writing my last
editorial I ran out of copy paper; your poem, being written on one side of the paper only, just helped me out.—

A Testamentary Puzzle.

An Englishman who recently died
had three children, one son and two daughters, and he mentioned all of them in his will.

The first clause is, "I leave my piano
to Mary Elizabeth, when Arthur has done with it." The other clause is,
"To Susan Jane—she may take whatever Arthur wishes to give to her."

There is no doubt of Arthur's standing in the document, but the pointed question is raised, Are Mary Elizabeth and Susan Jane beneficiaries under the will?

Just Like a Man.

"Oh, no; she's not at all what you would call a really feminine woman.
She affects masculine ways."

"How?"

"Well, for instance, yesterday I saw her give a street car conductor a nickel when she had five pennies in her purse."—Chicago Post.
